NO. 308—SEVENTIETH YEAR VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1928 TWENTY-FOUR PAGES

VICTORIA ELECTS OTTAWA MEMBER TODAY

KING CONTINUES TO MAINTAIN STRENGTH; HAS "HAD GOOD DAY"

Slight Heightening of Fever Occurs—Authoritative Statement Declares King Had Rested Well and Was "Certainly Not Worse" Than Night Before

Critical Situation, Nevertheless, Will Remain for Some Days to Come

LONDON, Dec. 5.—The King's physicians, in the usual evening bulletin, said that his temperature had risen in the last twenty-four hours, indicating increased activity of the lung infection. It later was explained at the Palace that the phrase used in the bulletin to describe the rise in temperature, "a point higher," was not intended to mean a rise of one degree, or even one-tenth of a degree, but only that a slight heightening of the fever had occurred.

It was said authoritatively that the King had a good day with plenty of rest, and certainly was not worse than he was last night. His heart is still the chief concern of the physicians, and great importance was attached to the statement in the bulletin that his general strength was maintained.

The four physicians remained in consultation for about two hours and again reviewed the entire case. Sir Stanley Hewitt was to sleep at the palace tonight, as he has the past few nights, in order to be at hand should an emergency arise.

UNITED STATES MAY FIX QUOTA FOR ALL LANDS

Government Asks Congress for Immigration Legislation—Too Many Mexicans Pouring In

NEW TREATY WITH CANADA HINTED AT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Extensive reworking of the immigration laws with the purpose of further restricting the flow of aliens into the United States, as recommended by Secretary Davis of the Labor Department in his annual report.

The chief effect of the immigration legislation Secretary Davis desires would be to cut the immigration from Mexico, now running at nearly 80,000 per year, to slightly above 7,000, while leaving undisturbed movement from other countries of the western hemisphere.

He recommended a compromise between the quota and national origin methods of determining admissible numbers and endorsed the proposals to fix a quota limit to immigration from North and South American countries, which now have no quota.

"Following the slowing down of immigration from Europe, there was a large increase in the number of Mexicans entering the country," the secretary continued. "They took, and are continuing to take the places formerly filled by South and West Europeans, existing laws that they can continue to come in increasing numbers, as they undoubtedly will."

WELSH MINERS IN DIRE NEED

QUEEN, WRITING FOR KING AND HERSELF, URGES RESPONSE TO APPEAL

Contributions to Lord Mayor's Fund Still Inadequate—$500,000 Already Raised

LONDON, Dec. 5.—(Canadian Press Cable).—The King's solicitude, even on his sick bed, for the needy among his subjects, is expressed in a letter sent by the Queen in reply to a message of sympathy from the conference of mayors of England and Wales. The conference was held at the Mansion House to discuss the Lord Mayor's fund for the relief of the distressed in mining districts.

"It is the earnest hope of the King and myself that the appeal for relief of the distress in the mining districts should meet the ready response it deserves," the Queen wrote.

It was stated that the fund totaled $500,000, but is still inadequate. A letter from Mr. Neville Chamberlain, Minister of Health, was read, in which he said the only solution for the unparalleled situation was migration of the unemployed miners, either to other places in Britain or overseas. Meanwhile something must be done to prevent the unfortunate people sinking into irretrievable exhaustion and ruin, he said.

Earthquake in Bulgaria

SOFIA, Dec. 5.—A violent earthquake at Tcherhan yesterday damaged many houses which had been constructed after the disastrous earthquakes of last Spring. The population spent the night in the open.

Conservative Leader Comes to Victoria

THE above picture shows Hon. R. B. Bennett, M.P., leader of the Conservative party in Canada, Miss Mildred Bennett, his sister, Premier Tolmie and Mr. D. B. Plunkett, the Conservative candidate in the by-election here today, taken on the arrival of Mr. Bennett has delivered three speeches here on behalf of the Conservative candidate.

Premier Tolmie Leaves For Ottawa to Carry on Parley With Ministers

PREMIER Tolmie left for Ottawa last night. He expects to return to the city in the course of two weeks. His mission is to confer with the Government of the Dominion on matters affecting the Province of British Columbia. During the visit of Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior and Mines for the Dominion, Dr. Tolmie and he had conferences affecting some of these matters. The negotiations will be continued by the Premier in the capital.

TWENTY-TWO CANDIDATES IN ELECTION

Aspirants to Aldermanic Honors Now Number Thirteen — Ald. Woodward and Mr. Collis in Field

HEAVY POLL IS FULLY EXPECTED

With the addition of two more candidates for the aldermanic board announced yesterday, those seeking election to ten civic offices now number twenty-two. There is an abundance of aldermanic candidates, there being thirteen aspirants to the five seats on the council. The triangular contest for mayoralty honors has already been started, and a triangular fight for the one position on the police commission is assured. The only sphere of civic administration that does not seem to arouse concern is the school board. There are three seats to be filled on the school board, and so far there are only three candidates. It is felt that the candidates for school board will be elected by acclamation.

In addition to keen contests for mayoralty, police commissioner and alderman, there are two money by-laws to be voted upon, which it is expected will be important contributing factors to making this year's poll a large one. There are over 12,000 people on the voters' list, so that voting on December 13 is expected to be heavy.

The two new candidates announced yesterday are Alderman E. S. Woodward, who is seeking re-election to the City Council after serving eight consecutive years on that board, and Mr. Robert E. Collis, a strong campaigner in Saanich several years ago when the improvement tax question was being threshed out. Mr. Collis at that time was a candidate for the school board.

Many Deaths In Epidemic Of Influenza

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5.—A sharp increase in deaths resulting from the influenza epidemic in the first four days of December compared to November was reported by the city department of health today. The department's figures listed fifty-three deaths and 2,021 new cases. During November seventy-four deaths and 4,092 cases were registered. More than a third of the deaths, health officials said, were caused by complications arising from the disease.

NOMINEE OF MORE USE ON RAIL BOARD

Senator Taylor Says Citizens of Victoria Would Be Better With Dr. MacLean on Railway Board

SEALING CLAIMS ARE DISCUSSED

Pre-emption Problem in Peace Area May Jeopardize Settlement, Senator Says

DR. MacLEAN has had much experience with the P.G.E., said Hon. J. D. Taylor, of New Westminster, in speaking last night in the interest of Mr. D. B. Plunkett. He issued this tribute to the Liberal candidate in putting forward the claim that if the Liberal party really wanted to give help to the province through the medium of Dr. MacLean, then they had a splendid course open by placing him on the Railway Commission.

The Conservatives had given the province representation on that commission, first by appointing Mr. Goodeve and then Dr. Rutherford on that body. There was a vacancy now for which Dr. MacLean would be eligible. It was then that he referred to the wonderful experience of the ex-premier with regard to the P.G.E.

The province had been told that Dr. MacLean was a man of such wide experience gained on the P.G.E. that he should be sent back at the late provincial election.

In view of the wonderful knowledge that Dr. MacLean is announced to have, it would be a shame if you took him away from the Railway Board where there is an opening for him, and where he can put into effect his wonderful knowledge of railway matters," said Senator Taylor.

RESULT WILL COME PROMPTLY

Electors of Victoria go to the polls today to select a member of the House of Commons in place of Premier Tolmie. It is nine years since a by-election for the Commons occurred here, and on that occasion, as at four general elections, Dr. Tolmie has had large majorities in this city. Mr. D. B. Plunkett, the Opposition candidate, has received the platform support of the majority of the Conservative members in the Commons from British Columbia, including Hon. H. H. Stevens, General J. A. Clark, Messrs. L. J. Ladner, J. C. Brady, Grose Stirling, and C. H. Dixie, in addition to the Conservative leader, Mr. R. B. Bennett, and of a number of the members of the Tolmie administration, and of the newly-elected Legislature, Senator J. D. Taylor, of New Westminster, also spoke for Mr. Plunkett.

Four Federal ministers, Messrs. J. A. Robb, James Macdonald, and Charles Stewart, and Dr. J. H. King have appeared for the Liberal candidate, Dr. J. D. MacLean.

The party managers expect a poll to be recorded of about 10,000, which will be less than that registered two years ago, when at the last general election the citizens gave Dr. Tolmie a majority of 2,780. The present Premier's great personal popularity was probably a factor in the large majority then accorded to him.

Particular stress is laid on the closing hour of polling, which is set at 6 o'clock, in view of the fact that provincial and civic elections carry the polling on to a later hour. A list of the polling places and of the Conservative committee rooms appears elsewhere.

The result should be known promptly, and will be bulletined at the business office of The Colonist.

Ontario Has Surplus

TORONTO, Dec. 5.—The Province of Ontario has a surplus of $237,000 for the fiscal year ending October 31, 1928, it was announced tonight by Hon. Dr. J. E. Monaghan, Provincial Treasurer, in his customary pre-election statement.

Commissioner Is Named for Saanich Probe

JUDGE P. S. Lampman has been named as the commissioner by the Government to inquire into the situation in Saanich with respect to secession of parts of the municipality, owing to the difficulty of adjusting the matter of taxation between the urban and rural sections.

He has been given power to examine witnesses under oath with respect to the matters in dispute, and will deal with the whole matter, reporting to the Government his findings respecting the situation.

Conservative Tradition Of Victoria in Politics Demands Mr. Plunkett

Hon. R. B. Bennett Stresses Necessity of City Continuing in Conservative Column, and Impresses That Canada Is Looking With Anxiety to Victoria's Verdict Today at Polls

Organization to Get Out Vote Will Secure Return of Opposition Member

Points From Speeches At Conservative Rally

"I FEEL certain that the electors of Victoria will not sacrifice their birthright for promises. You must decide whether it will be Canada for Canadians, or Canadian products for our neighbors to the south."—Mr. R. B. Bennett, leader of the Opposition.

"This victory will mean a great deal for the Conservative party from one end of the Dominion to the other."—Premier S. F. Tolmie.

"My election will tell the people of Canada that Victoria has remained true to its political allegiance, and is heartily in support of the Conservative principles."—Mr. D. B. Plunkett.

"If the fruitgrowing industry goes to the wall, what will happen to the consumer?"—Mr. Grose Stirling, M.P., in referring to the dumping legislation.

"In view of the wonderful knowledge that Dr. MacLean is announced to have, it would be a shame if you took him away from the Railway Board, where there is an opening for him, and where he can put into effect his wonderful knowledge of railway matters."—Senator J. D. Taylor.

INGING appeals to the electors of Victoria to elect at the polls today Mr. D'Arcy Britten Plunkett, Conservative candidate, as their representative in the Dominion Parliament, and thereby continue their support of the Conservative party's principles and policies, were made last night by Hon. R. B. Bennett, K.C., Federal Conservative leader, and Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Premier of British Columbia and Provincial Conservative chieftain, amid tumultuous cheers, at the closing Conservative campaign rally in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium.

WOULD REVISE LIQUOR TREATY

UNITED STATES PROHIBITION COMMISSIONER MAKES SUGGESTION TO CONGRESS

Ottawa Comments on Proposal That Canada Shall Forbid Export of Liquor to U.S.A.

OTTAWA, Dec. 5.—The suggestion of Prohibition Commissioner Doran, in Washington, that the Canadian liquor treaty be revised so that Canada would prevent liquor cargoes destined for the United States from clearing out of Canadian ports, would raise two points, it was stated in Government circles here today. One, of course, would be the question of policy on the part of the Government, but there would also be a question of law, it is stated. Some Government officials are inclined to question whether the Dominion Parliament would have power to prohibit the export of product legally manufactured in this country. As to the question of policy, that would be decided by the Cabinet.

Mr. Bennett declared that success at the polls meant organized effort, and he urged every Conservative to cast his vote, and added that the ballot boxes be watched after the polls were in the box. The election affected the well-being of the Dominion as a whole, and the destiny of the political parties in the next few years.

The speaker said that he noticed Dr. MacLean, the Liberal candidate, was manifesting an anxiety for port development now that he was seeking election to Ottawa.

Mr. Robert Forke Much Annoyed by Mr. Bruce Walker

OTTAWA, Dec. 5.—Hon. Robert Forke, Minister of Immigration, is requesting J. Bruce Walker, Canadian director of European immigration, to forward the text of the speech which the latter delivered in London on Tuesday night. A dispatch quoted Mr. Walker as declaring that all present immigration schemes were "trifling" and would not bear comparison with the magnitude of the problem.

In a statement issued this afternoon, the minister expressed surprise that an official of his department should make a pronouncement on matters of policy affecting both the British and Canadian Governments.

Aviation on Prairies

OTTAWA, Dec. 5.—Aviation is progressing even more rapidly in the Western Provinces than in the East. Inspector George Abbott, of the civil aviation branch, Department of National Defence, declared today on his return from a survey of flying conditions there. The Winnipeg Flying Club is becoming the most active in Canada, he said, while most satisfactory conditions prevailed at other points.

Cook thereupon made an appeal to the Government for the money that was due him as a soldier while he was held as a prisoner, and to which he was entitled.

This was refused, but he still persisted and finally got an order from the Governor-General which contained the words:

"Let right be done," signed "William."

Cook then, said the senator, came in triumph to the court and demanded that justice should be done him. He was, however, met in court by a representative of another department of the Government, who put up the plea that the judge could not hear the case because a soldier had no claim in right for the amount due, but was obliged to take what was given him by the Government.

In this position the matter was left. This, pointed out Senator Taylor, is the first chance since that incident occurred for the expression of opinion on the part of the electorate with respect to the Government responsible. There was the opportunity to speak at the election on that point.

He said that he found nothing in the manifesto or the speeches of Dr. MacLean to the effect that he would, if elected, take this matter up in the case of John Cook, instead of the buncome that he suggested with regard to looking after the sealing situation.

The situation with regard to Cook had been an affront to all who wore the uniform, he remarked.

SENATOR'S WELCOME

Senator J. D. Taylor said he welcomed the opportunity of returning to his old home in Victoria, and to participate in the movement for the return of a Conservative, and to participate in the movement by both parties for port development.

He recalled the old days of the entrance of the harbor, known in the early days as the corkscrew channel. A rock drill was used, and he believed that the channel had been straightened, but he found that Dr. MacLean is still promising the rock removal.

Senator Taylor referred to the presence of the ship at Victoria in the old days. He told of the days when the matter came up between the Federal authorities and the Imperial authorities, and the Liberal Government at Ottawa had stated that Canada would not object to the removal of the Imperial headquarters.

He contrasted Sir Robert Borden's offer, when war seemed impending, of $35,000,000 to Great Britain on condition that three modern cruisers should be built with the proceeds.

SEALING SITUATION

And the contribution towards the port development of Victoria by the Liberal party was dealt with by the speaker. This was the loss of the sealing fleet, which was of such importance to Victoria.

He retraced the history of the treaty negotiations between Canada and the United States for the wiping out of the fleet as far as Canada was concerned. The American proposed a treaty in perpetuity, preventing the taking of seals in the open seas.

The Liberals of that day were wiser than those of today. Sir Wilfrid Laurier persisted in a treaty for ten years, which was extended to fifteen years. It expired in 1925.

Dr. MacLean, he understood, was now proposing to make a move towards cancelling the treaty.

He referred to the loss to the sealing population of the revenue which the United States was to make for the loss of the industry.

Senator Taylor said he had not much faith in such matters being taken up by Dr. MacLean. He himself in the House had more satisfaction in getting results from a reluctant Government while in opposition, than from a Government he was supporting.

Dr. MacLean had not given much evidence in the past in getting results from the Government of his own party at Ottawa. He referred to the dumping of fruit when efforts were put forward to get results, and the word was given then that owing to the action of Dr. MacLean and his Government it was announced that British Columbia was not anxious for this action.

The speaker dealt with a situation that arose respecting lands in Peace River.

PEACE RIVER LANDS

He told of the move made at Ottawa to open up the lands in that district to pre-emption. It was proposed, in doing so, that holders of land in the other prairie provinces should be open to take up additional land in the Peace River district.

The point was raised that, as the natural resources were to be returned to the provinces, the wishes of the provinces should be obtained on this subject.

Senator Taylor said he recalled the fact that they were met by a message signed by Mr. Pattullo, the Minister of Lands in the late Liberal Government of British Columbia, which stated that that Government had no objection to these extra pre-emptions being taken by the present holders of these in other provinces.

The speaker suggested that Dr. Toimie, in his proposal to bring settlers into the country, might be affected by this policy. There were 3,500,000 acres in the Peace River which were to come to British Columbia. But this would place a cloud upon the land, were it attempted to use the land for settlement. Part of the lands would be taken up by those who preceded. The area would be an empty gift.

Dr. Toimie, if he had any idea of placing settlers on this land, might have to abandon his scheme there. Then, he said, it might become evident that settlers coming from the Eastern and Prairie Provinces, and who took up new pre-emptions in the Peace River, had their own ideas with regard to shipping their grain and favored the sailing of it

East rather than by the Pacific route.

"How are you going to get trade for Victoria in that way?" asked Senator Taylor.

The greatest factor in port development is in the policy pressed by Mr. Bennett. If these policies enunciated by Mr. Bennett were carried out, there would be the very finest of port development in the city.

SOLDIERS' PENSIONS

In concluding, Senator Taylor raised the point that there had been too many technical objections raised in connection with the obtaining of soldiers' pensions. He has had a great deal of experience in this matter, and there were too many technical objections allowed to be placed behind the claims that should not be raised.

Some said, he pointed out, that one seat did not matter much in a House of 245. He recalled to their minds the fact that a few years before one seat decided the whole political fortune of Canada, and this by a man who was not elected. He referred to "Baldy Robb," when the wrong man was sent from Peace River to Canada, and the hundred ballots out of a box and the substituting of 200 others for another man who supported the King Government, and saved the day for that Government.

UNITED STATES MAY FIX QUOTA FOR ALL LANDS

edly led to an increasing number, thus defeating one of the main purposes for which quota laws were enacted, namely, to prevent overcrowding of our labor market.

"I want to say emphatically that I entertain no prejudice against the people of any country, but being absolutely convinced that the barriers that have been erected to prevent the coming of unlimited European labor have proven to be highly beneficial, it is impossible to avoid the conviction that the industrial situation ought to be guarded against the difficulties and dangers which will almost certainly follow the unlimited immigration of workers from another source."

CANADIAN BOUNDARY

Recent court decisions by which aliens residing in Canada have obtained permission to cross the border into the United States were much regretted in the report.

"If these decisions are upheld, it will be impossible to prevent the entry into the United States of aliens of any race or color who may gain entry to Canada," he observed, after stating that appeals to the Supreme Court are still pending. If the final decision of the Supreme Court is against the Government, then the present immigration law will be no longer of any effect as a protection to the wage-earner of the United States against alien labor of foreign countries, whether Canadian, Mexican, or European."

In the event referred to in the last paragraph, negotiations with Canada for revision of the treaty in question may be entered into, as a provision excluding Canada from the operation of quota legislation, in exchange for exclusion of alien residents of Canada from border privileges which it is desired to confine to Canadians only, but which under the decisions referred to are now open to all residents of Canada, indiscriminately, as pointed out in the report to Congress.

"It is an old trick. Liberal ministers made great promises of port development in the by-election, at Port Huron, Ontario, but the electors in that place were not to be wooed. They were not for sale. They elected a Conservative representative, and Port Huron has not yet got its port developments. And neither will port development be carried out here by the Mackenzie King Government," Mr. Bennett asserted.

The Conservative leader stated that port development would follow, not precede the industrial life of British Columbia.

"SYMPATHY"

"We know the value of sympathy in times of great sorrow and affliction. But we don't make or build a nation on sympathy. The British people don't run elections on sympathy, nor permit issues to be clouded by sympathy. What sort of sympathy would induce the people of the capital of British Columbia to send one to Ottawa whom they discarded as being unfit for local representation in the provincial political field?" Mr. Bennett inquired, amid applause.

"Shall the electors of Canada wake up on Friday morning and say as a result of the vote here that British Columbia does not want a seasonal tariff on fruit to assist the farmers and laborers; that this city approves of the destruction of the fruit and vegetable industry in this and other provinces; that it is right to send our raw materials into another country to be manufactured, and our boys going to a foreign country to earn a livelihood owing to the lack of opportunities for self-expression that is denied them at home?"

"Shall Premier Mackenzie King be able to stand up in the House of Commons and tell the electors of Canada that they got their answer in Victoria?"

"Am I to be told that the old city of Victoria is represented at one time by Sir John A. Macdonald, the city which has always been represented at Ottawa by Conservative members with two exceptions, has now become a supporter of Mackenzie King?"

A voice: "Never." (Cheers.)

"IT WON'T BE DONE"

"Am I to be told that the city has changed its political allegiance, has forgotten its traditions and no longer believes in the policies of the Conservative party; that it is willing to permit destruction of the fruit industry of British Columbia because of port development?"

"I don't believe it will be done," affirmed Mr. Bennett, amid rousing cheers and vociferous applause.

Mr. Bennett said that every person who cast his vote today at the polls by Sir John A. Macdonald, the city which has always been represented at Ottawa by Conservative members with two exceptions, has now become a supporter of Mackenzie King."

"It is degrading to the intelligence of the city to think that anyone would confine himself to local outlook when the issues are Dominion-wide in character," he asserted.

The speaker referred to the economic penetration of Canada by the United States, and stated "we are more and more dependent upon the nation to the south, not only for our manufactured goods, but also such commodities as butter, fruit and vegetables. Are your boys and girls to find an opportunity in this great Dominion? Are we to develop these resources of ours, or are we to export them to foreign lands and import them as manufactured articles? Are we content to have mere money for our raw products?"

"We are a prosperous people, rich in resources, but how are we to utilize these resources in trust? We are sending out our raw materials to other countries to have them manufactured there, instead of insisting that they be fabricated at home. Shall we continue this practice, or shall the factories be built here to distribute the money in our own country and communities?"

THAT IS THE ISSUE

"What of your home, employment, boys and girls? Where shall they work? Where will they toil? In that land will they realize their hopes and ambitions and give self-expression to their desires and abilities? That is the issue, and you will help settle that question at the polls here tomorrow," Mr. Bennett declared.

Mr. Bennett urged his hearers to go to the polls today at the earliest possible hour, and then leave no stone unturned to see that all the Conservatives and other voters go to the ballot boxes and record their votes for Mr. Plunkett.

In introducing Mr. Bennett to the large assembly, Premier S. F. Toimie stated, amid cheers, that the Conservative Party was fortunate indeed in securing Mr. Bennett's great services as leader of the party. He also paid tribute to Miss Mildred Bennett, sister of the Conservative leader, who always gave assistance in the interests of the party.

"If all the Conservatives will get up early tomorrow morning and work industriously and continuously throughout the day for Mr. Plunkett, the Conservative candidate will be elected by a big majority," Dr. Toimie stated.

The Premier made an earnest appeal for the election of Mr. Plunkett. He said the candidate had always been active in the ranks of the party; had worked consistently in the advancement of Conservative principles, and had occupied the high post of president of the Victoria Conservative Association.

"Mr. Plunkett is a Conservative through and through, and when he goes to Ottawa, I am sure you that we will never see him sitting among the Progressives if he is there fifty years," the speaker said, amid laughter.

The Premier recalled how he had been elected at the Kamloops convention as provincial Conservative leader, and had resigned his seat at Ottawa to accept the new post, which left an unexpired portion of his term in the Federal House. He asked that the unexpired portion of his term at Ottawa be completed by a Conservative, and that Victoria continue its traditional support to the great principles of Conservatism.

ARCHBISHOP WOULD KEEP CHURCH WIDE

New Primate of All England Says Church Should Not Be Narrowed—Room for Differing Opinions

BOTH FREEDOM AND ORDER NECESSARY

CANTERBURY, Dec. 5.—In his enthronement sermon, the Archbishop spoke as follows on the present situation in the Church of England:

"See how, in this century, the nation is moving outward in the world as a union of free and self-governing states, held together only by common memories and traditions, and common loyalty to the Crown. See moving outward with it the Anglican Church, becoming a fellowship of free self-governing churches, held together by the common faith and order and a common reverence for this ancient see of Canterbury.

"Yet the church is cumbered and divided into schisms. Unless it can become one body, how can it give witness to the one faith?

"There must be a common bond of faith, yet with this there must be freedom to gather in new experiences of the spirit, and new achievements of the mind, in all the religions of the world. Order and freedom, permanence and change, the one church must find place for both.

"Three main movements of thought and experience are lodged within our household—the Catholic, Evangelical, and Liberal. Is any one of them an intruder? Does not each stand for the spirit in an aspect of truth without which the church would be impoverished and its power to answer God's call hindered? Why, then, should they contend one with another? Let each tolerate the others and learn from them.

"At the present time, we know, recent events have confronted the church of this realm with special difficulties. This is not the time or place to dwell on them, but I am moved to say very solemnly that if, during this time of transition, any section or party were to press its claim to the extreme limit, the church would miss for a generation the chance of fulfilling God's purpose in England and throughout the world. I entreat all parties to resolve now to make a great spiritual movement of charity, consideration, and self-restraint."

TRADE OF DOMINION EXPANDING

Current Loans Make Notable Gains, According to Annual Statement of Bank of Montreal

TOTAL ASSETS ARE NOW $873,782,523

Deposits Indicate Rapidly Growing Wealth of People—Important Developments Occurring

Striking evidence of the marked expansion of business throughout Canada is one of the outstanding features of a statement which the Bank of Montreal is now reporting to its shareholders. With its large resources, the bank has readily been able to meet the increased requirements of various industries, with the result that the gain in current loans in Canada for the year is well in excess of $50,000,000. At the same time the customary strong position of the bank has been maintained.

The statement, which is for the fiscal year to October 31, shows that the total assets of the bank have increased to $873,782,523, compared with $831,548,967 at the end of the previous fiscal year. Of this total liquid assets amount to $473,898,282 equal to 55 per cent of liabilities to the public. Included in liquid assets are total cash holdings of $118,987,065 or 14.95 per cent of all liabilities to the public. These cash holdings comprise gold and subsidiary coin $53,585,262, as compared with $38,400,252; Dominion notes $60,391,802, up from $50,552,958, and deposit in Central Gold Reserves of $25,000,000, compared with $19,000,000 last year.

LARGE INCREASE IN LOANS
As a result of the important developments that are occurring in many sections of the country, the tendency has been to report substantial increases in call, as well as current loans. Call and short loans in Canada now stand at $39,147,086, up from $39,719,404, while call loans in Great Britain and the United States are down to $138,965,168 from $151,381,004.

Indicative of the much larger general business being handled, current loans in Canada have risen to $308,752,388, from $255,155,693, making an increase of $53,596,695 over the previous year. At the same time, loans to cities, towns and municipalities and school districts have gained to $22,416,668, from $16,651,162, while current loans and discounts elsewhere than in Canada are reported at $35,496,446, down from $45,628,393.

Reflecting the growth in the demand for Canadian goods, deposits continue to find new high levels. Total deposits at the end of the year stand at $473,898,282, compared with $431,548,967 at the end of the previous year.

PROFITS GROW
The profit and loss statement indicates that with the larger volume of business offering profits have also shown a tendency to increase. Profits for the year, after deducting charges of management and making provision for all bad and doubtful debts, were $5,847,237, equal to 0.5 per cent on the combined capital, reserve and undivided profits; this compared with $5,259,867 at the end of the previous year. The profits, added to the amount carried over, brought the total available for distribution up to $6,002,126. This was distributed as follows: Dividends and bonus, $4,186,388; provision for taxes Dominion Government, $400,000; reservation for bank premium, $100,000; a total of $5,286,388 and leaving a balance to the credit of profit and loss of $713,783, as compared with $154,709.

FIRM PAYS GIRL $12 MONTH WAGE

Facing Charge, Employers Agree to Pay Arrears—Then Get Refund From Mother

VANCOUVER, Dec. 5.—Appearing in police court for the second time on a charge of violating the Minimum Wage Act, a representative of Cartwright & Crickmore Company, Limited, stock and bond brokers, Dunsmuir Street, was fined $50.

The first charge was laid a month ago when Mrs. E. Brown, minimum wage officer, stated that a girl in the employ of the firm was receiving only $12 a month instead of the minimum $11 a week required by the act. The charge was withdrawn on the understanding that the firm make an adjustment and pay the girl, Gertrude Bullock, $49 in arrears. A letter of apology to the minimum wage officer for treatment accorded her when she investigated the case in the firm's office, was filed in the office of the Deputy Minister of Labour, following the withdrawal, officials stated.

When the case was called today, Mrs. Brown testified the girl, who received a cheque for adjustment of her wages, was allowed to return to the employ of the firm, but her mother was approached and asked to return the adjustment cheque.

The girl declared Mrs. Brown, had spent $15 of the money received from the cheque, but handed back $34. After several days she was told that her services were not satisfactory and she was discharged, said witness. The minimum wage officer then relayed the charge she said.

After hearing argument for a dismissal by defence counsel, Magistrate J. A. Findlay imposed a fine of $50.

Prix Goncourt Is Awarded to Canadian Novel

PARIS, Dec. 5.—The much-coveted Prix Goncourt has been awarded to Maurice Constant-Weyer, of France, for his psychological novel, "A Man Inclines Towards His Past," dealing with the Irish and French in Canada. Constant-Weyer, who was a resident of Manitoba for twelve years, hunted, farmed and traveled widely in North America. He returned here at the outbreak of the war and was wounded fifty-three times in 1917. Later he hobbled back into the tank service, was wounded three times again, and was in a hospital until 1920, when he returned to Canada and found all his possessions gone, presumably stolen.

Returning to France, he took up work as a provincial newspaperman.

Government Will Give Substantial Aid to Bridge

Vancouver has received a reply from the Government of the province, relative to the aid which will be given to the construction of the Burrard Street Bridge. The Government will contribute 10 per cent of the cost of the work, with a maximum contribution of $200,000. The delegation which waited upon the Government a short time ago has been urgently requesting a reply from the local Government, so that it may have the assurance before the Dominion Government was approached for the purpose of obtaining an equal amount from Ottawa.

The delegation from Vancouver leaves at once for Ottawa and will press the claims of the city for a similar contribution from the Dominion Government.

TODAY'S BY-ELECTION

Today's vote in the Federal by-election is a clear and unmistakable test of Conservative versus Liberal principles. Four Ministers of the Federal Government have come here and asked our people to support the policies of Mr. Mackenzie King. They have stressed national issues as the issues to be decided upon by the people of Victoria. Mr. R. B. Bennett, the Conservative leader, has also appealed to Victorians urging them by their ballots to assist in the task of freeing Canada from economic dependence on the United States. As Mr. Bennett sees the significance of this by-election it is a question of becoming economically independent of foreign domination, and it is consequently an appeal to the self-respect of the people. He asks Victorians "to vote for the national life of Canada." The Conservative policy, he says, may be summed up in a simple way. It is to offer employment to the greatest number of Canadian people within the Dominion of Canada.

Victorians will register their verdict today on their attitude towards the great exodus of our people to the United States under the Liberal Government at Ottawa. There is a growing exodus of our raw resources as well for the benefit of industrialists and workmen in the United States. The latter exodus, and failure to manufacture sufficient of our raw material at home, is the cause of there being insufficient work for the people of this country, with the result that many have to follow the raw materials of Canada into the United States. That is the process that has been going on and has been encouraged by the Liberal Administration at Ottawa. It has broken up families in the Dominion. Hundreds of Victorians have gone to Washington, Oregon and California, and farther afield, in search of a livelihood that should be available for them at home. Victorians today are asked by Mr. R. B. Bennett, the Conservative leader, and by Mr. D. B. Plunkett, the Conservative candidate, to vote against policies which condone the exodus of our man power and of our raw resources.

"Make Canada an independent economic unit in the world," is the keynote of the Conservative policy in Federal affairs. If we do this we will have port development, greater than anticipated, because it will become necessary in the course of economic expansion. Mr. Bennett says that there is far more at stake in this by-election than is realized because he believes that if Victorians vote for the national life of Canada, then, what they say today, Canada will say tomorrow. He has visited scores of places in the Dominion during the past few months preaching the gospel of economic independence, and everywhere, in the deepest interest has been aroused. There is, indeed, a more vital conception of national issues today than there has been in this country for many years past. It is certain that Mr. Bennett does not exaggerate when he says that today's decision in this city will have its effect from Vancouver Island to Cape Breton.

Victorians are too principled to have their political allegiance subverted by specious promises made on behalf of a Government in power. Like the electors of West Huron they are not to be bought. The service that would have to be rendered for the purchase price is too heavy, for it involves support of the Mackenzie King policy. It involves endorsement of the national leadership of Mr. Mackenzie King. It would be an admission by Victorians that they are content to accept the doctrine that Canada can continue to become more and more of an economic adjunct of the United States, and less and less an independent economic unit. It would be giving our blessing to policies which have led to the exodus of our people and of our raw materials, a loss in population and in wealth which this country cannot go on affording. It would be an admission that our people are content with an immigration policy which admits more foreigners than those of British stock. It would be sanctioning motives, both fiscal and political, which are not in the best interests of our national life and are not calculated to cement the solidarity of the British Empire.

A vote for Mr. Plunkett today is a vote for those policies which will inculcate self-respect in the economic and political development of this Canada of ours. Endorsement of the Conservative platform means sanction for a programme which will build up our industrial life, make us more and more self-supporting, increase our external trade, provide employment for all, encourage the coming to the Dominion of British settlers as opposed to those of foreign extraction, and give to Canada a self-reliance and a self-respect beyond what she has ever had. The issues of the by-election are clear cut; they affect the national life of the country, thought of in terms of the present and of futurity. Victorians, in our opinion, will be well advised today to give an emphatic verdict to the leadership of Mr. Bennett by electing Mr. D. B. Plunkett by a large majority. It is a decision which we are assured they would never regret.

MR. J. C. BRADY, M.P.

The people of this city during the course of the by-election campaign enjoyed a series of speeches by Mr. J. C. Brady, the Federal member for Skeena. Mr. Brady spent some time here and gave of his best energies in the Conservative cause and in support of his friend, Mr. D. B. Plunkett. An eloquent speaker, with the Irishman's gift in this particular skillfully developed, he undoubtedly was a factor of strength in the campaign, and the citizens owe him their hearty thanks for having stayed and explained so lucidly and convincingly the Dominion's problems from the Conservative angle. Mr. Brady is a student of men and affairs. It was at some sacrifice that he spent the last few weeks here, but he did so because of sheer joy in an election contest—another Irish trait which adds zest to his political utterances.

The Conservatives of Victoria owe him a debt of gratitude. He was a pillar of strength to the cause here, and when he returns to his duties at Ottawa he will take with him the kindest feelings from this constituency. Mr. Brady is essentially the patriot in the cause of his party. He heard him during the campaign, and the hope will be expressed that he will come again and come often, especially when there is a political contest on the tapis.

A candid self-appraisal of an ideal that prevails among perhaps the great majority of Americans appears in The Rochester Democrat-Chronicle. "Chasing money," it says, is still the main interest. The people are wealthy and are proud of it, says the paper, and of their ability to make money, which they regard as a "test of strength and character." The Democrat-Chronicle is of the opinion that it takes "brains, industry and courage" to make money, and says, "we believe that our wealth is a fair measure of our own character, just as music or painting may measure the character of some people." The newspaper in question is either unaware of, or undeterred by, certain lessons which might be quoted from history which tell the fate of nations that became too immersed in sordid things.

The Conservatives have been attacked vigorously in the by-election campaign because, forsooth, they have enunciated the policies for which they stand. They are told, in fact, that there are no party politics in the contest, that it is simply a question of supporting the Government in power because, "only in that way," will Victoria secure some hypothetical advantages, based on promises alone. Those, however, who know the record of failure in the redemption of promises in the past will say to themselves, little Danaos et dona ferentes.

Victorians can assist the fruit growers of British Columbia in their fight for protection against the dumping of American products, by voting for the Conservative candidate today. The Conservative Party stands four-square in favor of the application of the anti-dumping clauses in the case of emergency. The Federal member for Victoria at the last session of the Parliament at Ottawa took the lead in urging that the fruit growers should be adequately protected. Mr. Plunkett is pledged to sustain the fight on behalf of British Columbia's producers.

Those who realize the better business conditions that have prevailed in Victoria since the Tolmie Government took office, and the more hopeful outlook that maintains all over British Columbia during the past few months, will have no hesitation in voting Conservative in today's by-election. Conservatism, more than any other political creed, spells prosperity.

Exiles from Victoria, forced to leave here in order to secure employment in a foreign land, will be anxiously awaiting the result of today's by-election in the city which they love so well. They know that a verdict for the Conservative policies will be a vote of condemnation of conditions which made their exile necessary.

A vote for Mr. Plunkett, the Conservative candidate in today's by-election, will be a vote of encouragement to the Tolmie Government to carry on with policies designed to promote the conservation of British Columbia's resources for the benefit of our own people.

"UNCLE SAM"

A movement is on foot to erect a memorial to the creator of "Uncle Sam." The fact that the identity of the man who first used the term has been lost probably will not prevent well intentioned Americans from indulging their penchant for setting up a monument to someone. "Uncle Sam" Wilson, whose memory is to be thus honored, was the story goes, a New Hampshire meat buyer for the government in the war of 1812, who draped each carcass he passed with the letters "U.S." When this meat arrived in camp some waggy soldier dubbed it "Uncle Sam," whence came the personification of the United States which caricatured later adorned with a top hat, a set of whiskers and a beaver hat. The credit for originating the name obviously belongs to some now unknown soldier in our second conflict with Great Britain. Wilson has no more claim to it than has the steer upon whose dead body this meat buyer branded the suggestive initials. At that, a good many monuments have probably been set up to men whose claims to recognition were no more substantial than his—Detroit Free Press.

Anger is not sinful, because some degree of it, and on some occasions, is inevitable—but it becomes sinful when it is conceived upon slight and inadequate provocation and when it continues long—Paley.

Note and Comment
by R. M. D.

President Coolidge has read his annual and his last message to Congress. Our American friends usually say The Congress. We never say The Parliament; but there is only one Congress worth speaking of, while there are a number of Parliaments, some of them under certain conditions hardly worth speaking of. The message of the president is very much like the Speech from the Throne. It is merely a formal document. Its contents may or may not influence or direct the business that will be brought before Congress. President Coolidge's laudatory message should be interesting to the people of Canada, for if Congress should give it serious consideration and adopt some of its suggestions the effect upon some of the industries of Canada will also require very serious consideration.

The message of the president should have considerable influence upon the minds of Congressmen and upon the proceedings of Congress, because there is no question that the policy of the president and of the Republicans has been endorsed by the voters of the United States. But the procedure in Congress is like the political system of the United States. It is complicated and slow in action. The existing Congress has but a short time to live. The session which has been opened by the message of the president will die a natural death in about three months, with a large part of that time absorbed by the holiday season. Congress may adopt all the recommendations of the president before it expires about the first of March, but if it does that it will set a record for expedition.

However, the policies of the retiring president are the policies of Mr. Hoover and will be the policies of the Hoover administration. If those policies are not adopted by the existing Congress, they will be adopted, sooner or later, by a succeeding Congress. The most vital of the policies of the Government of the United States from the point of view of Canadians is the policy for the relief of farmers. That policy is an increase of the tariff upon imported agricultural products and controlled marketing of native agricultural products. When there shall be a greater agricultural production than can be absorbed by the home markets, the surplus that remains shall be collected and set aside for distribution in the markets of the world. That is, the surplus shall be "dumped" at whatever prices are obtainable in the markets of Canada or of any other country.

The markets of Canada are the most convenient and the most accessible and the markets of Great Britain are the only markets in the world that are absolutely unprotected. Mr. Hoover has gone to South America for the purpose of investigating and cultivating the markets of the countries in the southern part of the continent, but the people of the nations of the South are principally grain and fruit growers, and the demands for products reserved for "dumping" are not likely to be large down there. Canada and Great Britain must therefore be the chief victims of beneficiaries of the American policy. All the "dumping" in the past has been done by individuals or organizations. The State is going to facilitate the process by the creation of machinery for its operation and by financial assistance to assure its success. There has been "dumping" on a retail scale. There may be "dumping" on a wholesale scale.

The fruit and vegetable growers of British Columbia, having experienced the effects of "dumping" on a comparatively small scale and dreading the possible consequences of "dumping" on a nation-wide scale, are consulting the people of the three Prairie Provinces on the subject. The consultation thus far has revealed a highly interesting state of affairs. The revelation is that the people of the Prairies are not by any means free traders to a man. The only free traders in the West who have nailed their colors to the mast are a number of grain growers, who declare that they will keep the colors flying until all the world accepts the principles of free trade.

If the "Die-Hards" of the Prairies adhere to their resolution the cost of buying colors to replace those that have been blown to shreds will be equivalent to the price of many bushels of wheat, for it is the principle of protection, not the principle of free trade, that is in the ascendant throughout the world today. Whether the principle of protection be sound or unsound in the abstract is of no consequence. It is a condition, not a theory, that confronts the people of Canada.

Furthermore, the number of newspapers in Canada that advocate the principles of free trade has dwindled to two, and one of them is published in Victoria—for The Manitoba Free Press has either partially or wholly recanted. The reason for this unexpected apostasy is that Winnipeg is now more than a great grain growing and marketing centre. Winnipeg has become a great manufacturing and vegetable producing centre. It is becoming a great mining centre too. Big towns are springing up in places where no one ever expected them to spring up. Those big towns are consuming a lot of vegetables and buying large quantities of manufactured articles. Hence the vegetable growers of the Prairies are joining the fruit growers of British Columbia in their demand for the imposition of "dumping" duties. When the attitude of the fruit growers and the vegetable producers of every part of Eastern Canada is considered, it is reasonable to assume that very soon Canada will be almost unanimous in its demand upon the Government for the imposition of both adequate protection and "dumping" duties.

INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT
Sir—Nobody seems to offer any suggestions as to how to make our industries pay dividends except my old friend, Mr. Shanks. His ideas, as conveyed in a letter to the Editor in The Colonist, were, I thought, very sane and worthy of earnest consideration. He makes a good suggestion as regards the treatment of fishermen who come to Victoria, and his reference to Prince Rupert is right. I have lived in that town, and I know the fishermen are liberal spenders; but they want what they want. We should certainly try to draw that trade here; but when we get it, if we do, be careful. Do not put up too many "No Parking" signs, give the fishermen a chance to spend their money in their own way. Men with good ideas, like Mr. Shanks, are desirable on the city council.

WILLIAM MOPHEE,
2659 Douglas Street, Victoria, B.C.,
December 5, 1928.NORTH VANCOUVER
AND P.G.E. ISSUEGovernment Decides to Stand by Policy Announced Prior to Election

A delegation from North Vancouver waited upon Premier Tolmie and members of the Cabinet yesterday for the purpose of ascertaining whether the Government would stand by the policy of the P.G.E. Railway from North Vancouver to Whytecliff, on which traffic has been suspended, might be permanently abandoned.

The delegation was given the information that Premier Tolmie was standing by his pre-election promise. They were treated to the Premier reading from these assurances the statement that it would be his purpose, if elected, to try to discontinue the P.G.E. line, and that failing that action the directors of the line would be called into consultation with the object of ascertaining how the original plans in connection with the road could be best carried out.

Dr. Tolmie assured them he was standing by that announced policy. The delegation consisted of Mayor G. H. Morden, of North Vancouver; Alderman E. H. Bridgman, North Vancouver; Reeve J. M. Frame, district of North Vancouver; Jack J. Louie and J. M. Bryan.

Mr. Ian Mackenzie, member-elect for the district, arrived in the afternoon for the purpose of assisting in the plea, but arrived too late.

The suspension of traffic along the line out of North Vancouver was made absolutely necessary, owing to the fact that the engineer of the line reported that the bridges were unsafe, and issued orders against the use of the line owing to that reason.

An order-in-council has been issued by the Government allowing the carrying of freight over the line between the two points, North Vancouver and Capilano. There are no bridges in that short section.

THE stork is one of the most peculiar animals in existence. It lives in the forests of South America and Central America. It lives a highly specialized existence, for it cannot move with facility except on the under sides of tree branches. On the ground it is a swift creature and very clumsy. It feeds on leaves and has a stomach with several chambers.

HOUSE TO MEET
JANUARY 22

MODEST BUDGET APPROPRIATION IS FORECAST BY DEPARTMENTS

Little Contentious Legislation Will Be Introduced in Next Session

The Legislature will open on January 22, according to the announcement on behalf of the Government. Notice of the decision will appear in this week's British Columbia Gazette.

It is anticipated that the session will be a short one. The Government, it is announced, will have its legislation ready, so that there will be but little delay from that cause. It is stated that in some of the departments the legislation that will emanate from them is already in shape for introduction.

There is an impression that little or no contentious nature will be brought forward at this session. Anything that may come forward will be necessary work. The opinion that any legislation which can be avoided for the next session will be passed over and left until the Government has had the opportunity of getting a clear year in office before attempting the introduction of changes.

The estimates, it is anticipated, will be conservative in their character, allowing for the carrying out of necessary work only.

CRIPPLED SOLDIERS
DO SPLENDID WORK

Display Being Given Today in Hudson's Bay Company's Store

Since the war, many attempts have been made to provide employment for those men who suffered partial or total disability as a result of the loss of arms or legs. One of the most successful of these is the work which has been carried on with the men at Woodseals village, near Sheffield, England, where at the present time forty-seven men are engaged in the making of various articles of apparel, purses and other pieces of handicraft. Here two artists have devoted their lives for the past thirteen years to this cause. The results are most gratifying, and men, who formerly lived in the worst possible conditions in the slums of the cities, are provided with work amidst proper living conditions, and with their wives and families are housed in attractive cottages in what is very nearly a model village. Clubrooms have been arranged, with radio, billiard tables and books, and playgrounds for the children add to the enjoyment of the workers.

DISPLAY HERE

A particularly interesting display of work is today and tomorrow being shown in the Hudson's Bay Company store here, where, under the direction of Mr. Spragg, who has been connected with this cause for the past five years, the public is given an opportunity of assisting in this worthwhile undertaking. The Hudson's Bay Company generously donates free space, advertising and other favors for the assistance of Mr. Spragg. The display contains many beautiful purses of decorated English leather, as well as pretty hand-painted lingerie, rest gowns, frocks, evening gowns, wraps and Spanish shawls. The daughters of the men who do all the handwork on these articles are being taught, as they become old enough, to fashion the dresses on which their fathers work. It is satisfactory to note that the colors used in decoration of the articles will dry clean perfectly, and that the gold and silver will not tarnish. Pastel shades are used widely, and all the decorative motifs have been worked out by the ex-servicemen and are absolutely original. A number of lovely wall hangings in gold, black satin and tulle are also shown. One of these depicts St. George and the dragon, is an exact replica of the one done for the Prince of Wales.

LOVELY SHAWLS

One smart white shawl, which is a replica of one which Princess Mary purchased from the soldiers, has baskets of rosebuds and pink and blue ribbons in knots; another, a replica of the one done for the Queen of Spain, is in black, with striking color motifs, conventionalized; still another in pale blue, is a replica of Princess Mary's, and a fourth is in black, a copy of one done for Pavlova, the famous dancer. One black heavy georgette evening wrap, fringe bordered, is attractively decorated with conventional design in vivid color. This is the only one of its kind in Canada and is particularly outstanding.

SEEK CANADIAN AID

The aim of this work is to bring to the attention of Canadian people the efforts which are being made to provide work for these men, and enlist the assistance of any who can help. These men want regular work, not charity. Princess Mary is the patron of this undertaking, and among the many others who have given interested help are H.M. Queen Mary, the Prince of Wales, the Duchess of York, the Duke of Connaught, the Prince and Princess of Connaught, Princess Beatrice and the Queen of Spain. Here in Canada, Lady Willingdon has expressed her interest, and has voiced the hope that a branch of the work may be started in this Dominion for the assistance of ex-soldiers who need to be provided with some adequate means of livelihood. This type of service is particularly dear to the heart of Earl Haig, and the committee of the national memorial to his memory has decided that a group of cottages at Woodseals village shall be erected for the benefit of more disabled soldiers who need the help which can there be given them. James Blomfield, well-known Canadian artist, is found in his praise of the work of the soldiers, which he says is of a highly artistic character. A view of the display given here.

SECTIONALISM IS DEPRECATED

Mr. G. Stirling, M.P., Explains Problems Created by Elimination of Dumping Regulations

"I have conducted a clean, sharp campaign, and if elected as your representative at Ottawa, which I believe will be the result, I shall be a true representative for Victoria and the whole of Canada, and I will follow the lead of my leader, Hon. Mr. Bennett, and the Conservative party," declared Mr. D. B. Plunkett, Conservative candidate in the federal by-election today in Victoria, in addressing the closing Conservative campaign rally in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium last night.

Mr. Plunkett, who pleaded himself to the principles of the Conservative party, was tendered a flattering reception, and was cheered to the echo, both when he was introduced to the meeting, and at the conclusion of his brief address.

"I am your candidate in one of the oldest cities in Canada, in a city which was represented fifty years ago by Sir John A. Macdonald, Canada's first Prime Minister. The policies and principles which he enunciated before the people of that day are far more useful in Canada at the present time than they were then. At that time Canada lost none of her natural resources, for she had forsaken her Conservative traditions and support. If I am elected as your representative, the word will go forth throughout the length and breadth of this land that Victoria has remained true to its political allegiance, and is heartily in support of the Conservative party, which will bring greater prosperity and happiness to this country," Mr. Plunkett said.

Mr. Plunkett said he had pledged himself to the Conservative party's policy of encouraging and stimulating the interchange of our own products between the various provinces of the Dominion and the development of home markets, the promotion of internal and the extension of our external trade along economic lines, without developing monopolies, the fostering of industrial interests and the development to its fullest extent of our great agricultural possibilities, the assisting of the producer as well as the consumer, and the providing of employment for our own people in Canada, and the raising of the standard of living of the working man.

people of Victoria and British Columbia do not intend to sell their birthright for MacLean or anyone else," declared Mr. Pooley, amid tumultuous applause.

JEOPARDIZES EMPLOYEES
Attorney-General Pooley recalled that one of the policies enunciated by the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the great Liberal chief, was that any civil servant who took any part in politics took his job in his own hands. He asked whether this policy had ever reached the ears of Dr. MacLean, ex-Premier of this province.

Dr. MacLean, as Premier, never carried out that policy of his former leader. He has departed from that principle. He has written personal letters to Government employees, asking them, as it were, to enter the political field, and lend him their support.

"I say that Dr. MacLean, in doing that, has shown that he has forgotten the precept of his old chief, and has proved himself not to be the political sportsman that I thought he was. He knows he is jeopardizing the position of Government employees. Liberals as well as Conservatives," Mr. Pooley said.

MR. STIRLING
Mr. Grote Stirling, M.P., was introduced as one who understood the fruit industry thoroughly. The member for Yale said that the Liberals were appealing to the electorate on the plea that the questions to be decided were purely local, and that the Liberal party was the only one that had thought from more than a local standpoint.

Defeated in the province, Dr. MacLean's claim for special consideration as a friend to the fruit industry was purely local, and that the Liberal party was the only one that had thought from more than a local standpoint.

AUSTRALIAN TREATY
Mr. Stirling said he criticized the Australian treaty because Canada was asked to accept butter made in Australia under subsidy terms. Following the passing of that treaty, the Liberal party's action, provided for dumping butter on the Canadian market.

The same terms as Australia had been given to New Zealand by order-in-council. The Liberal party demanded the terms referred to at once. The Canadian ministry in negotiating the treaty, omitted to take into consideration the fact that the opportunity to trade on difficulties connected with the entry of Canadian apples into Australia.

This was done because one minister represented that British Columbia put an embargo on fruit, and this was accepted in spite of the fact that a Provincial Government could not put on an embargo.

PROBLEMS ON OKANAGAN
Mr. Stirling referred to the fruit situation in the Okanagan, and the woes under which the growers suffered. The whole community was affected by the fruit industry. If the fruit industry went to the wall, what would happen to the consumer? asked Mr. Stirling.

He went on to answer it by showing that the imported apples would have to be bought at the price demanded by the foreign raiser of fruit, and the consumer could have no redress.

Fruit and vegetables were by no means protected by a high tariff. It was demanded that automatically when a glut occurred that foreign fruit should be kept out by a special tariff.

Mr. Stirling recalled the history of the placing of the anti-dumping clause against foreign fruit, under the Conservative Government. The Liberal party repealed the clause, but finding a mistake had been made a remedial measure was proposed, naming an order-in-council to make it effective.

Then in 1925 under Conservative action, an order-in-council was passed, which eventually was changed later by the Liberals under free trade pressure.

Eight times last session, led by Dr. Tolmie, efforts were made to undo the damage. Then came similar trouble for the strawberry growers of the Island and Lower Mainland. While the industry languished Ottawa declined to act, owing to divided counsels in the cabinet. The fruit growers on Thursday had to ask whether the development of Canada was satisfactory under the Liberals, or under an ardent supporter of Canadianism in Mr. R. B. Bennett.

Rev. J. T. Ferguson Dies
CALGARY, Dec. 5.—After an illness of a week, the result of a fall on the veranda of his home, Rev. J. T. Ferguson, United Church minister, died at 10:15 p.m., Tuesday.

Dr. Ferguson, who had been resident of Calgary since 1912, was seventy-three years old. He is survived by his widow, two daughters and one son.

King Continues to Maintain Strength; Has "Had Good Day"

and its approach. It was one of those foggy days, without pervading the whole town, hung in dense masses over wide areas, and the palace tonight was in one of these. Late home-goers in automobiles and taxicabs crawled cautiously past the palace, and had difficulty in finding a bulletin board on the railings which was the object of their visit.

Even when they had located the board it was difficult to decipher the big black letters. Policemen came to the aid of some with their electric torches, while others struck matches to read the latest report of the condition of the King.

The Daily News medical correspondent says: "The King's condition remains grave, and will be so for some days to come, even if the infection again diminishes. Hope largely depends on the maintenance of his strength and the amount of rest he can secure."

PRINCE ON RED SEA
The Prince of Wales is making good speed on his homeward journey. The cruiser, Enterprise, after loading supplies at Aden today, sailed again for Suez, where it is due early Friday.

The Duke of Gloucester continued his journey to Capetown, from where he will sail for London.

The Queen, with Princess Mary, today resumed their customary afternoon drives out. The Duke and Duchess of York dined tonight with the Queen. Queen Mary today received from 100 passengers on the liner, Transylvania, bound from New York to Glasgow, a message expressing their deep sympathy, and offering their prayers for the speedy restoration to health of King George. The Queen's reply was one of sincere thanks in which she said she "deeply appreciated their thought for the King and herself."

VICTORIA FALLS, Rhodesia, Dec. 5.—The Duke of Gloucester, who passed through here yesterday en route to Capetown, received first news of his father's illness on the afternoon of November 30, when he was on the Lupala River, in the Belgian Congo, returning from his day's shooting. He found native messengers waiting with telegrams. The Duke at once decided to push on by forced journeys to the rail-head.

IN SOUTH AFRICA
BLOEMFONTEIN, South Africa, Dec. 5.—General Alan Christian Smuts, former Premier of South Africa, in an address here today, referred to the King's illness, and said that no other matter today was giving more cause of anxiety, not only in South Africa, but all through the Empire, and far beyond. "We are all deeply and anxiously the news of His Majesty's illness, and we pray for improvement in the condition of the King, and that he may be restored to health," General Smuts said. "I am sure I am expressing the opinion of everyone in South Africa when I say that it is our prayer and deepest wish that he may be early restored to health. Our sympathy goes out to the royal family, especially the Queen."

General Smuts' remarks were followed by the singing of the National Anthem.

HUSKY'S RELIEVED MY INDIGESTION

"In Just a Few Days It Took the Gas Off My Stomach and Stopped the Heartburn and Bloating," Says Mr. McCaughy

JOHN McCAUGHY
"Husky certainly is good for indigestion. It didn't take any time to take the gas off my stomach and relieve that suffering I was having every time I ate anything," said John McCaughy, 1521 South Broadway, Tacoma, Wash.

"I had a heavy feeling in my stomach after eating," he said, "and also suffered from heartburn, bloating and belching. I had a great deal of trouble with constipation."

"That uneasy feeling in my stomach is all gone now. I'm taking Husky and I don't have a bit of gas or indigestion of any kind. The constipation is gone, I'm sleeping better and just feel well and fine." Husky relieves chronic acidity, too much acid in the system, which authorities agree is the cause of so much indigestion. That's why Husky relieves gas on stomach, bloating, heartburn and discomfort after eating so quick. Begin Husky today. The MacFarlane Drug Co. and other good drug stores always have Husky.

Final Dates To Mail for Christmas

With Christmas Day less than three weeks off, the public is advised to prepare and post Christmas mail as soon as possible.

The following points should be kept in mind:

In the United States there will be no postal deliveries on Christmas Day.

As customs procedure in the United States frequently entails considerable delays, it is urged that parcels be posted as far ahead of Christmas Day as possible.

For the Eastern States and California December 15 is suggested as the latest date, and for Oregon and Washington, December 17.

Notwithstanding a large proportion of the parcels are admitted duty free, it is not possible for Canadian authorities to give any definite information as regards customs duty.

For Canadian points it is recommended that letters and parcels be mailed in time to reach the point of destination not later than Saturday, December 22, so that the bulk of the deliveries can be made on December 24.

This will give postal employees a chance to enjoy at least part of Christmas Day with their families.

Parcels for the Maritime Provinces and Quebec should be mailed not later than December 15, for Ontario not later than December 17, for the Prairie Provinces not later than December 18, and for the Lower Mainland and Vancouver not later than December 20 or 21.

Prince Rupert mail should be posted not later than Monday, December 17, at 11 p.m., to connect with the Union Steamship Co.'s steamer leaving Vancouver 7 p.m. Dec. 18. After December 17 the next mail for Prince Rupert will be closed at noon on December 21.

The programme was opened by Division IV, with a brisk flag drill by eight boys, Gordon France, Tommy Riggs, Garton Lees, Cedric Stokes, Ronnie France, Gerald Clanton, Shew Lim and Masao Baba.

The pupils of Division III presented a colorful little playlet, "The Fire Fairies." The costume play, "Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves," which was presented by Divisions I and II, was a cleverly executed and elaborate play in three acts. The hearty applause given by the audience showed how much the children in their elaborate costumes had been appreciated. The solos by Eileen McKenzie, Mona Cowell, Edna Hordridge and Jean Speedie proved popular parts of the programme.

The evening's entertainment was in every way a decided success, and comments of appreciation were heard on all sides. Great credit is due to those who gave so much time to the training of the children, the making of the costumes, etc., the teachers, Mr. J. Ramsay, Miss Houldsworth, Miss B. May and Miss J. Stott, who were indefatigable in

Aged Women's Home

Arrangements for the usual Christmas festivities were discussed at the monthly meeting of the Aged and Infirm Women's Home Committee at the monthly meeting on Tuesday afternoon.

The president, Mrs. Clay, presided. Specifications and prices were received for installing an oil burner in the cooking range, but on account of the Christmas season being so near, it was thought wise to postpone the matter and consider it after the holiday. The visiting committee reported that the health of all inmates was fairly good, and that one room was now vacant. The visiting committee for December is Mrs. Heddie, convenor, with Mrs. Clay and Mrs. W. Grant. The following donations were received during November: Mrs. Bainbridge Smith, box of apples; Mrs. Broderstone, box of apples; Mrs. Shobolt, fish; Mrs. J. ## Big Game Increases Near National Park

WINNIPEG, Man., Dec. 5.—Big game hunters who journeyed out into the passes adjacent to the borders of Jasper National Park during the 1928 season found the animals greatly increased in numbers, and there is no record of parties having returned to the railroad without securing at least some fine trophies as a result of their hunt, it was stated by Roy Hargreaves, hunting and trail outfit of Robson, B.C., who is in Montreal on a business trip. The increase in trapping activities along the lines of the Canadian National Railways on both borders of Jasper National Park have reduced the number of vermin fur bearers. Mr. Hargreaves stated, with a result that the young animals, sheep and goats and moose, are given a much better chance of reaching maturity, as there are fewer coyotes and wolves to prey on them.

Naval Committee Of House Desires More Disarmament

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The naval committee of the House yesterday placed itself on record as desirous of having the 5-5-3 naval ratio between the United States, Great Britain and Japan extended to ships which were not so specified in the Washington naval arms conference. It did this after listening to Chairman Britten read the reply he received from Premier Baldwin of Great Britain on the subject of an interparliamentary naval conference. The chairman stuck to his guns in saying he had been guilty of no breach of etiquette in going direct to the British premier with his plan.

MYSTERY THRILLER COMES TO CAPITOL

Owen Davis' "The Haunted House"

Screened for Balance of Week

One of the most powerful aggregations of players that has ever been assembled for a single picture will be seen in "The Haunted House," First National's ghostly thriller, which shows today, Friday, and Saturday at the Capitol Theatre.

As there is much comedy as well as thrill in the film, which Benjamin Christensen, European expert, directed, Chester Conklin was an ideal type for the comedy lead. Thelma Todd, blonde and beautiful, lately seen with action bulls in "The Crash" and in "Vamping Venus," both from First National Pictures, is the heroine, a lovely nurse.

Montagu Love, who was the heavy in "The Hawk's Nest" with Sills, and in "The Noose" supporting Richard Barthelmess, will be seen as the mad doctor.

Larry Kent, handsome young First National stock actor, is Billy, who falls in love with the nurse. Eye Southern is a deep walking maiden; Flora Finch is funny as Mrs. Rackham; Barbara Bedford is charming as Nancy, a lively girl, while William V. Mong is a mysterious caretaker.

The stage attractions appearing at the Capitol Theatre for this week include George Chow, the noted Chinese tenor; Lillian Barthelmy, accordionist supreme, and Raverne and Baker, who are offering a novel dance presentation. On the same bill are the Capitol Theatre stage band, under the baton of Al. Prescott, and Jack Reed, the popular singing Master of Ceremonies.

PLAYHOUSE Buster Collier, who THEATRE plays one of the principal roles in the Tiffany-Stahl production, "The Tragedy of Youth," now playing at

The Playhouse Theatre, had a sore face for many days after the filming of some of the scenes in this more than interesting drama of modern life. Buster had to go through many shaving episodes and by the time the scenes were taken his face had to be bathed in several lotions to soothe away the stinging. For many days afterwards he had to go unshaven to give his face a chance to get back to normalcy.

COLISEUM Paramount's latest THEATRE over for a big success when "Manhattan Cocktail," starring Nancy Carroll and Richard Arlen, opened at the Coliseum Theatre last night. The sparkling story of backstage life is one of the best melodramas shown here in some time and the prodigious, in which Marian Morgan's dancers relive some classic scenes, adds a note of distinguished beauty. No less an asset to this any other picture is Richard Arlen. He has a power, a forcefulness, a sincerity in his acting which brings his own story to the heart of any audience.

Two Brilliant Operas Sung at Royal Tonight

A splendid bill of fare is to be offered by the D'Oyly Carte Opera Company at the Royal tonight—the screamingly funny "Trial by Jury" and "The Pirates of Penzance," both of which have been outstanding hits of the present Canadian tour of the famous Savoyards.

"Trial by Jury" is very short. It was the first joint effort of Gilbert and Sullivan, and was merely a curtain-raiser Richard D'Oyly Carte had asked the two, then young men to give him for his theatre. There is no spoken dialogue. Its setting is an English courtroom, where the villain of the piece is being sued by a dear young thing for damages for breach of promise. Sydney Granville as the judge, Leslie Rands as counsel, T. Perry Hughes as foreman of the jury, Joseph Griffin as the plaintiff, and Sybil Gordon as the defendant make up a galaxy of stars for this bright little operetta, and they give a good indication of the entertainment to follow when the whole large company appears in "Pirates of Penzance." Blossom Gelsthorpe, Beatrice Elburn, Muriel Barron and Pauline Wootton are well fitted for the parts of the young female roles and such Savoyards as Darrell Fancourt, Sydney Granville, Joseph Griffin and Charles Goulding round out the cast of principals.

TYPES OF NEURALGIA

A distressing pain in the course of a nerve is termed neuralgia. Those who are suffering from this trouble are well aware of the symptoms. Neuralgia is practically always associated with either a diet deficient in mineral elements or toxic conditions within the body, and is therefore frequently found with diseases of this type, such as hysteria, neurasthenia, anemia, beriberi, etc.

Occasionally drugs or industrial poisons are responsible for neuralgia. Among these in the order of their frequency are: Lead, arsenic, alcohol, phosphorus, nicotine, iodine, opiates, copper, silver, platinum and various coal tar products.

Neuralgia may be found with any toxic conditions of the body and frequently precedes or follows the acute diseases such as influenza, mumps, whooping cough, or chronic diseases such as gonorrhea, syphilis, diabetes and beriberi; or may come as a reflex from various local infections such as decaying teeth, pyorrhea, infected tonsils, sinus trouble, prostaticitis, appendicitis, and is often associated with diseases of the brain or nervous system.

Fractures and bony displacement, especially of the vertebrae and ribs, are very frequently the cause of neuralgia.

NEURALGIA OF THE FACE. Usually termed trifacial neuralgia or tic douloureux, is usually caused by disease of the teeth, sinusitis, inflammation in just a few weeks the can help you get back your appetite—make your body stronger—your feet nimble and your mind keener. Sue Carol plays the feminine lead opposite Boyd in "Skyscraper," which is being shown at the Columbia Theatre. Alan Hale heads the supporting cast as the brawny "buddy" of the star. Howard Higgin directed the picture with consummate skill. Also on the same bill is the second chapter of "Tarzan the Mighty."

SIX-CYLINDER CAR IN THE PRICE RANGE OF A FOUR-CYLINDER ANNOUNCED

Speed, Acceleration, Power and Smoothness Are Offered in Motor

Passing on to the motoring public the benefits of economies arising out of tremendous volume production, the Chevrolet Motor Company of Canada is introducing "The Out-standing Chevrolet of Chevrolet History—A Six in the Price Range of the Four."

In making this important announcement, Ross MacKinnon, general sales manager, points out that the sensational public reception accorded the car in recent years has enabled Chevrolet at this time to offer the added power, speed and smoothness of six-cylinder performance at practically the same price that contributed so much to the world-wide popularity of the four. Preparations for the greatest year in its history are now being made by the Chevrolet Motor Company. Production of the new car has started and the company's giant factories at Oshawa, Walkerville and Regina will be turning out cars to be shipped to dealers by December 15. Deliveries to the public will start January 1.

Although no definite schedule has been set, Mr. MacKinnon declared that production of the new car in Canada and the United States would probably exceed 1,250,000 units, thereby surpassing all former records. In its new offering Chevrolet has retained the highly successful valve-in-head principle.

Speed, acceleration, power and smoothness, to an unusual degree, are offered in the new motor. It is of the high compression type, fully enclosed and with non-detaching head. It has a three and five-sixteenths bore and a three and three-quarters inch stroke with a 194 cubic inch piston displacement. The motor develops 32 per cent more horsepower than its famous predecessor, and has an abundant source of reserve power for fast getaway, heavy loads and steep grades. New features that contribute to this added power are an improved combustion chamber, a newly designed camshaft and four exhaust and three intake ports.

This is a combination combustion splash and wick flow method of lubrication with the oil supplied through an oil filter at the bottom of the crankcase by means of a newly designed vane type pump. Assuring maximum cooling efficiency there is a large chromium-plated Harrison honeycomb radiator with water pump and fan.

The clutch is of the single plate disc type and requires no lubrication. The new rear axle is similar in design to that used on the most expensive cars. It is of the semi-floating type with a strong, one-piece, banjo-type, pressed steel housing. Seven models of passenger cars and three commercial types comprise the line. Included in the passenger car line are five closed and two open models. All bodies this year carry the famous Fisher stamp of craftsmanship. The commercial car line embraces a new and larger utility truck of one and one-half ton capacity, and a new light delivery chassis.

World

"The newspaper," says Professor W. W. Colforth of the Department of Economics and Political Science, of McGill University, "not only brings into every home and to every reader his main source of knowledge, but it makes for human solidarity, promotes international and international understanding, and is at the same time one of the cheapest and yet one of the greatest of man's satisfactions." It is the advertising matter it contains which enables a newspaper to be sold for next to nothing, but more than this, the advertising in itself is an important part of the news. "It includes news of theatres, news of travel opportunities, news for the potential employer who seeks a worker and a worker who seeks an employer, but above all it contains news of goods—goods of every description, able to satisfy every material need from the cradle to the undertaker."

MAN'S VANITY RECEIVES JOLT

Mr. J. A. Pearce, President of Astronomical Society, Shows Solar System as Mere Speck in Universe

TRIBUTE IS PAID TO ASTRONOMERS HERE

Man, the earth he lives on, and the solar system of which the earth is a part, were revealed as insignificant nothingness during the lecture given on Tuesday evening by Mr. J. A. Pearce, president of the Astronomical Society, at Victoria College. Illustrating his splendid talk on "Our Wonderful Universe," with a succession of very fine charts the photographic lantern slides of the heavens, Mr. Pearce used the comparative method, with the sun and the solar system as units, to demonstrate the vastness of creation as it has already been revealed to man through the great science of astronomy. The extreme isolation of the solar system was stressed most effectively by the lecturer when he said that if the sun and its planets were represented on a chart by a speck the size of a decimal point, then the nearest star was seventy-five yards away, and the most distant celestial object as known to astronomy at present was more than one million miles distant.

Another method was used to demonstrate the same idea. Light, Mr. Pearce reminded his audience, took eight and a half minutes to reach the earth from the sun; it took more than four and a third years to reach the nearest star. And light travels at the enormous speed of 186,000 miles per second. It was because of these enormous distances of the stars that astronomers had adopted the term "light year," this expression being a brief way of indicating six million million miles, that being the distance that light traveled in one year. Yet the nearest star was four and one-third light years distant. The average star visible to the naked eye was about 500 light years away, for instance, Polaris, the Polar star.

Another outstanding point in the address was the emphasis which the speaker placed on the operation of a harmonious law in the scheme of the universe. In the rotation of the planets on their axes, in the revolution of the planets about the sun, was an amazing regularity, a similarity of direction, viz., from west to east, which showed the solar system came into existence by the operation of harmonious law rather than by chance. And so exact is the operation of this law that astronomy is able to foretell to the smallest fraction of time when many astronomical events, such as eclipses, advents of meteor and other events of the kind may happen.

"So perfect is our celestial knowledge now that we can predict all the eclipses of the moon and sun up to 3000 A.D. with such accuracy that a telescope set up today and trained for observation work would be exactly right 1,000 years hence," noted the speaker.

HISTORY OF SCIENCE

Mr. Pearce began his lecture with a brief rehearsal of some of the theories of the ancients with respect to the place of the sun and the earth in the universe. The geocentric theory, of course, had been entertained first; so far as the senses were concerned it was the simplest explanation—that the earth was the centre, the sky moving about it. This would have been generally displaced by the heliocentric theory much earlier than it was had it not been for Aristotle and Ptolemy, both men of acknowledged wisdom, whose belief in the geocentric theory men of profound scientific knowledge could not effectively dispute.

"Even in the middle ages, if anyone postulated that the earth went round the sun, he was sure to be accused with 'What do you know more than Aristotle?'" remarked the lecturer, who in this connection paid a tribute to the fine contribution made to astronomical science by Kepler, Galileo, Newton, Bradley, Halley, and the two Herschels. Ptolemy's Law, 1772, was also mentioned, this scientist having noted the regular mathematical reappearance of planets at definite (approximate) distances from the sun. From the fact that the planets, without known exception, rotate about the sun in the same direction as the sun goes round its own axis; and that the satellites also rotate about their axes in the same direction, Mr. Pearce drew the conclusion that the solar system must have developed from one rotating primary nebulous body rather than by chance.

Before proceeding to show the insignificant size of the sun in the universe, the lecturer took some trouble to impress his audience with its size when compared to the earth, by saying that it would take 109 earths, strung like beads on a chain, to span the sun's diameter; or, if the earth were represented by a golf ball, the sun would be represented by a space nine feet by nine feet by nine feet. All the planets in our solar system were much smaller than the sun, so much smaller that 750 complete sets of all the planets could be carved from the sun's volume. Charts illustrated the relative size of Mercury, Venus, the moon, Mars (with its "canals" and "oases," and on which, the speaker noted, "we have no reason to believe that life does not exist"), Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus and Neptune. Saturn was pictured as the most remarkable object in the sky, with its gaseous rings making a mass 177,000 miles in diameter.

BUT ISOLATED

Even with this vastness, when compared to the earth, the solar system is a small and insignificant thing in the universe. Yet space was shown to be not crowded. In fact, it was estimated that two suns could collide about every one hundred thousand million years.

Binaries, both visual and spectra, were touched upon. The spectra of the stars told their composition, their mass, their density, distance, how fast they were moving, and their temperature. Speaking of the binaries discovered and investigated by means of the spectroscopic, the lecturer remarked that the staff of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory here had made notable contributions in this field of knowledge. Approximately 300 orbits had been determined, and of this number, Mr. W. E. Harper, assistant director at the observatory, had contributed about ninety, or more than twice as many as any other living astronomer.

The Astrophysical Observatory at Saanich had also specialized on two different investigations, viz., that telling the masses of the stars, and concerning eclipsing variables. Dr. J. S. Plaskett, the director, had to his credit the investigation of the majority of the eclipsing variables and the most massive star known, "which has the astounding mass of 150 times that of our own sun," noted the speaker.

One of the slides shown illustrated the largest star known, with a diameter of four hundred million miles. The central portion of the solar system, including the orbits of the earth and Mars could be placed inside this one star. In contrast with such giants were number of dwarf stars. Kruger 60, for instance; Wolf 359, and the strange companion to Sirius. These little stars were about the size of the planet Uranus. After studying the characteristics of the nearby stars, the lecturer showed slides of the far-away ones, and took his audience for a tour through the Milky Way, among the star clusters, and the spiral nebulae. The phases in the life history of a star, its creation, burning out, and final extinction were illustrated by a chart in which the various stages of such a sun's life were illustrated by a nebula, then by Antares, Arcturus, Capella, Persiel, Cygni, Sirius, Procyon, our sun, Cygni and Kruger. This showed our sun to be wanting to extinction, but in this connection the lecturer reassured his audience when he stated that "it will be many millions of years yet before it burns itself out."

The great amplifying power of the telescope was shown. Within a space where only eight stars are visible to the naked eye, 1,442 are visible with the biggest telescope. "Although we have no evidences of any other systems like ours, the whole of the solar system is a mere atom in space," announced the lecturer, who added that space was now conceived as being infinite in size, with ten million universes of millions of suns. The scientist could only say what, where and how. To the philosopher was left the question, why?

Dr. Plaskett, director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, paid a very warm tribute to Mr. Pearce, as astronomer, lecturer and man, in expressing the thanks of the audience for the very interesting evening. Professor Elliott presided, and announced that the next meeting of the society would be on January 15, when the lecturer, Mr. W. E. Harper, would speak on "New Observatories."

Following the lecture, the audience went out on the terrace to view Jupiter, the Orion nebula, the Pleiades and Mars through a telescope brought down from the Saanich Observatory by Dr. Plaskett. The weather was excellent for observation work, and Mr. Pearce was busy until about 11 o'clock explaining the various points.

REINDEER HERDS OF LAPLAND STARVING

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 4.—The reindeer herds of Swedish Lapland are suffering from the intense cold of an early winter. Unusually severe weather has made it difficult for them to find enough of the special reindeer moss on which to subsist and they are therefore threatened with starvation. Already many young calves have died from lack of fodder. Grave concern is felt among the Laplanders, inasmuch as the reindeer provide them with food, shelter and transportation. The way of the transgressor is hard—to find out.

EFFORT TO LIFT CHURCH DEBT

Uphill Struggle Has Been Experienced by Victoria West United Church

The sixteenth anniversary services of Victoria West United Church will be held on Sunday, when the special preacher for the occasion will be Rev. F. W. Anderson, M.A., of St. Andrew's United Church, Nanaimo. Special anthems and solos will be rendered at each service, and on the Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock the anniversary supper will be served by the Ladies' Aid, after which a concert will be held, the artists being outstanding and well known in the city.

This church was dedicated in 1912, when the preacher was Rev. S. D. Chown, D.D. The people up to this time had been worshipping in a small building known as Wesley Methodist Church, and due to the high value of property about that time, it was decided to seize the opportunity and sell the lots owned and build a more modern church and manse. A buyer was secured and on the strength of receiving the full payment, the present church and manse were erected at a total cost of $25,000.

The price of property, however, soon afterwards went down to a low figure, and the man who had bought the lots died, before much of the money had been turned over to the church, and as a consequence the congregation had to face a debt of many thousands of dollars. The lots could not be sold, and have not been sold since, and are now owned by the city.

This congregation did not give up the struggle. Nearly all the original trustees are away from the city, or are members of other churches in the city. In fact the majority of the members of the church at the present time were not here when the church was erected, yet are giving splendid aid in grappling with the problem.

The work of this church like many other churches has fluctuated according to the prosperity of the people. When employment was good then the debt was reduced, but when there came a period of unemployment then it was exceedingly difficult for the church even to meet the interest due. Since 1912 there has been paid in interest alone $10,000.

The debt now stands at $4,000. It is hoped that due to the very special effort made on this anniversary that a larger amount than usual will be raised, and also that the friends scattered now in different parts of the city will desire to render some financial aid to their church of former years.

Great credit is due to Mr. William Beattie, who has remained loyal and consecrated to this task, also to others who have sacrificed on its behalf. Brighter years are in store for this church, and if any who read these words would like to have a share in bringing to a more speedy end the financial struggle of sixteen years, their contributions will be most gratefully received by the pastor, Rev. H. J. Armitage, 561 McPherson Avenue, or Mr. William Beattie, 408 Edward Street.

A cordial invitation is extended to all former members and friends and any others interested to attend the services on Sunday, and also come to the supper and concert on the Monday evening.

A charity collection was made in a factory owned by an Aberdonian. He gave his permission.

RUSSIAN 'CELLIST' ARTIST OVER ABC

Kolia Levenne Will Play During Programme Over Network System This Evening

"Etude," a composition by Alexander Scriabin, one of the most radical of modern day composers, is the opening selection of an hour's concert by the American Artistic Ensemble over stations of the ABC chain this evening, starting at 8 o'clock Pacific standard time. Scriabin, a Russian, received his musical education at the Moscow Conservatory, and was graduated as an honor student in 1892. His earlier works are considered remarkably fine in workmanship and poetic conception, his later work, however, espoused impressionism, and later still he evolved a combination of what he called "mystic chords," and which were produced with a color scheme as a corresponding harmony. They were not a success, and Scriabin died while in the midst of a fantastic composition which he called "Mystery," which, in addition to the color background, was to be blended perfume.

"BARBERRY BUSH"

One Girl's Marriage Problems
By KATHLEEN NORRIS

It was on the afternoon before the day set for their wedding that Barbara and Link walked through the rooms of the old home that was to be their new one; looked through the white-paneled doorways, crossed the wide polished floors to look down through the freshly cleaned window panes into the garden.

Their own quarters were finished now, or almost finished. Some of the curtains were still folded, and waiting, with brass hooks and rods on tables or chairs. The beds were not made; but upon the deep new mattresses were folded the blankets and linen. There were details of picture hanging and the placing of chairs still to manage; even while they strolled, enchanted, through the whole domain that was to be their home, Barbara and Link were busy with the details of their new life. Barbara was in a perfect whirl of confusing and happy impressions.

Ready for the desk was her engraved stationery, boxes and boxes of it, her heavy crystal inkwell and marbled trays and pens. The closets looked deliciously large and bright and empty; certain fascinating boxes had been placed within them. "I can't remember half the things we bought," Barbara said, in a perfect whirl of confusing and happy impressions.

"We'll take our time opening them all up," Link assured her. "I suppose he was on this occasion that he suddenly diverted the conversation to the almost-forgotten ranch."

"Barbara, do you remember that, while you were ill, you asked me to go down to the old hacienda and look about for letters and deeds and things?"

"Perfectly." But she never quite liked to be reminded of the ranch. "You remember that Barry had told you he was giving you the place? Was that before or after you were married?"

"I'm not sure. Afterward, I think it was just around that time. And finally he did give me a deed. Didn't you find the deed?"

"Yes. It was made out to Barbara Atherton, though. So that it is valid."

"Even though I'm not Barbara du Spain?" she mused, struck. "I suppose he either arranged it before we were married, or else was in one of his absent-minded moods, later. It isn't the ranch isn't worth much, is it, Link? It's mortgaged, you know, to the hilt. That property never will be worth anything."

"I'm not so sure," Link said, with the look that Barbara secretly cherished as his "business face," and secretly admired. "It won't be for some time. But Miller and I have had a little scheme about it for almost a year. As a matter of fact, we had it in mind when we went down there, Christmas Eve. We don't want to make a mushroom development of the place, like some of those other places, but we both feel, and my father feels too, that it might make a very fine investment. To lay out roads, put sewerage and water in."

"It would have to go slowly, there'd never be anything sensational about it. But it would mean a little money trickling in for Kate, year after year. By the time she was a young lady, it'd be a good nest egg."

"Miller is working on a proposition to make you now; you to preserve a certain interest in the whole thing, we to develop it, and the profits, if there are any, to go to Kate."

"On Link, Link. This is a put-up job!"

"Put-up job nothing; it's a straight business deal. And you might easily do better, if the southern end of town begins to develop. But, anyway, there's a possibility there. We'd preserve the hacienda, make it into an inn, some day—"

Rickard Disappointed In Griffiths' Showing

Setback Given Highly-Praised Fighter by Braddock May Place Later in Select Group for Vacated Throne

By WALTER TRUMBULL
(Copyright, 1928, by the North American Newspaper Alliance)

The great reputation which "Tuffy" Griffiths brought eastward to see a second Dempsey, but which was shattered by the defeat of James Braddock, of the Jersey Braddocks, yet should not be too hard on "Tuffy."

He was greatly handicapped by the advance notices which heralded him as "another Dempsey." In peering at many ringmen who have been announced as second Dempseys, I have come to the conclusion that there is no such animal. It would be an exhilarating sight to see a second Dempsey, but they say a man is as good as Dempsey I have come to believe that, while the boosters are trying to be truthful, they are not wholly frank. It would appear that they are referring to Dempsey when he was ten years old.

But it takes time to make a heavyweight. In 1915, Jack Dempsey himself was all but massacred by a dusky opponent named John Lester Johnson. Four years later, in the burning heat of a July day, Dempsey knocked out Jess Willard and became heavyweight champion of the world.

Willard in 1911 had little except size to recommend him. He won the title from Jack Johnson in Havana four years later. Gene Tunney was seven years on his way from a marine's uniform to Jack Dempsey's crown.

So a single setback for a young fellow such as Griffiths means little. He may come on to be a champion in the next few years. It is true that he shows small indication of anything of a single dent, but he may never be better than a third rater. But, if he has the courage and the patience and the right stuff, a single defeat, however humiliating, means little in any youngster's career.

RICKARD DISAPPOINTED
Naturally, Tex Rickard was disappointed at "Tuffy's" showing. Mr. Rickard can develop a great affection in a very short time for any boxer who has a real punch and can use it. The great promoter is looking for just such a man, and with the intention of making him financially independent for life. This is not sheer benevolence on the part of Mr. Rickard. He would figure on getting some small part of the financial benefit himself. Mr. Rickard is only altruistic to a certain extent.

Still, Tex Rickard is not mad at "Tuffy," even though disappointed. A boxer who blows into New York and packs the Garden to the roof is all right with the Garden's president. If "Tuffy" Griffiths went to Florida, the chances are that he would be permitted to wear a mallet on Mr. Rickard's croquet court or go fishing. If young Lechnin himself had been in the West, he could not reasonably be expected to do more than fill the Garden. Anytime they discover another flat fighter, they are going to be charmed to pay his car fare to New York. His return arrangements are his own affair.

James Braddock may come out of this affair a bigger drawing card. James has been busting jaws and knocking second Dempseys for a long time, and he is doing something for his efforts. No less a person than Gene Tunney, the Italian traveler, once said that Braddock looked like a very sweet prospect.

The trouble with Braddock has been that he has been unable to take on weight. Regardless of his efforts at eating and building up, he has continued to resemble a wire on which the master workman has neglected to put the insulator. But in spite of his lack of bone covering, this lad swings a very adamant fist. He socks with vigor and abandon and seems to enjoy his work. It may be that James will grow to his height and the size of his fists, and become high among the logical contenders.

Young Stribling and Jack Sharkey still seem to be the favorites in the winter books. Johnny Risko appears to be on the down grade. The Cleveland brawler is not as tough as he used to be. Perhaps he needs a rest. A good rest certainly has done wonders for Jim Maloney. The chances are, of course, that the next great heavyweight is somewhere on his way, as yet unknown and unused.

CLIFF O'MEARA IS BADLY HURT, PICTURES SHOW

X-Ray Photographs Indicate Victoria Iceman Sustained Broken Rib and Bad Rupture at Seattle

WILL BE OUT OF GAME FOR MONTH

X-ray pictures made yesterday of the injury received by Cliff O'Meara, when "Young Smokey" Harris gave him the butt of his stick last Friday at Seattle, showed that the Victoria man had received a broken rib, close to the spine, and from a bad rupture. "These injuries will keep this flashy player out of the game until the New Year."

O'Meara has had a lot of tough luck since joining the Cubs. Before the league got away, the right winger received a fractured cheekbone which kept him out of the game for two weeks. He played in three games and was just starting to show his form, when Harris put him out. It is a tough break for Manager Joe Smith, who figures he has lost one of his best men.

Things are beginning to hum in the Cubs' camp. Manager Joe does not like the idea of his team being the dominant force in the league, and is scouting around for new material to bolster up his front line. "Oie" Osmundsen will report this morning, while two more deals are in the air. Joe has his eye on a couple of Winnipeg boys, and may bring them to the Coast in a few days. He refuses to release their names, but stated that each is a high-powered product. If Osmundsen can show anything like the form he displayed with the Victoria Capitals last year, the Cubs should have a real addition to their front line. "Oie" can play either center or right wing and has elase. He is a pleasing player to watch in action, a fast skater, a good stick-handler, and has a bullet drive. He led the scorers in the intercity league last year by a wide margin.

Manager Smith and Skipper Borland are working on a new line of strategy, and from now on local fans will see a difference in the attack of the Cubs.

SUZANNE LENGLEN SILENT ON PLANS

Rumors Continue to Fly on French Tennis Star's Reported Engagement

OGDEN, Utah, Dec. 5.—A woman who refused to be interviewed, but whom train attaches identified as Suzanne Lenglen, arrived here at 9:20 a.m. on the Union Pacific Railroad, and left twenty minutes later on the Southern Pacific, ostensibly for Truckee, Cal.

The trainmen told newspapermen that they recognized the French tennis star, who had ridden on their train during a previous visit to the United States. Her destination was said to be Lake Tahoe, for which a narrow gauge railroad leaves Truckee.

Newspapermen learned that the woman passenger dispatched a telegram yesterday to Baldwin Baldwin, at Lake Tahoe, signed "Baldwin." Rumors of the engagement of Miss Lenglen and Baldwin have been circulated at various times.

An older woman and a young man traveling with the party also declined to speak to newspapermen.

VANCOUVER LIONS TO PLAY PORTLAND IN SOUTH TONIGHT

VANCOUVER, Dec. 5.—With a growing sick list, but still hopeful of getting somewhere on their first road trip, Vancouver's Lions left for Portland and Seattle tonight.

The Lions play the Portland Bucks tomorrow and the Seattle Eskimos Friday night in Pacific Coast Hockey League fixtures. Two more players were added to the hospital list today, young Sammy McAdam, and Joe Jones, a rangy defense man. Douglas Brennan is still suffering from a sore knee, and his chin is not yet healed up. Art Somers' ankle isn't quite in shape yet, either, leaving Frank Patrick with a rather weakened club to take South with him.

ENGLAND WINS TEST CRICKET MATCH EASILY

Defeat Australians by 675 Runs at Brisbane — Second Lowest Score in History of Tests

ENGLISH BOWLERS SHOW FINE FORM

BRISBANE, Dec. 5.—The English cricket eleven, bowling and batting with a power that was demoralizing, won the first test match of the series against Australia in defence of the traditional "ashes" today, when they trounced their opponents by 675 runs.

England, scoring 521 runs in the first innings, was practically assured of victory at that stage, when the Australians failed to score more than 122 runs in their first innings. England declared when eight wickets were down for 342 runs in the second innings, and Australia was forced to play the remainder of the match out of the fire. But they were helpless before the formidable English bowling, and crumbled for 66 runs.

The second of the five test matches to be played will start in Sydney on December 14. England won back the "ashes" from Australia in England in 1926, when England won one match, three were drawn and one was abandoned. The bowling, criticized when the test team was selected as the weakest part of the team, confounded the "experts."

Larwood, White and Tate had the Australians at their mercy, while the showing of White, the Somersetshire captain in today's play, was the best of his career. He took four wickets, more than justified his inclusion in the first test team.

SECOND LOWEST SCORE
The Antipodeans' second innings was the second lowest score in test matches played in Australia. They were compelled to bat today without the services of Kellaway, one of their star players, and Gregory, who were unable to play in the match after Monday. Kellaway is suffering from an attack of pneumonia and Gregory from a strained knee.

Woodfull was the hero of the Australian side. He went in first and carried out his job for 30.

SCORES

Second innings, 66.

NOTED CANADIAN SPORTSMAN DIES

Colonel H. G. Mayes' Death Comes as Great Surprise. Played With Canadian Davis Cup Team

TORONTO, Dec. 5.—The news of Col. H. G. Mayes' death will be received with profound regret by all sportsmen, and moreover with surprise, as he was in the prime of life, and because of his splendid physical condition, was for the last decade known internationally as the "fittest man in Europe." He was director and superintendent of the Canadian army gymnastic staff, 1915-19, and adviser to the Greek Government on national physical reconstruction during 1919-22.

His book, "How to Keep Fit," published about ten years ago, was considered most authoritative and the illustrations accompanying the chapter dealing with exercises were photographs of Suzanne Lenglen, who at her prime followed his system. Colonel Mayes played for the Canadian Davis Cup team in 1913-14, but lost his qualification to represent the Dominion by long residence abroad.

He was a most familiar figure on tennis courts on the Riviera and only this spring ran Rene Lacoste a very hard match in the finals of the Monte Carlo tournament in which the Australian, French and Chilean Davis Cup teams took part. He was singles champion of London last year and during the last three years won thirty-five championships. Colonel Mayes always described himself as "a Canadian player."

Hitchman Thought to Have Shoulder Broken

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—Johnny Cline, 160, of Fresno, stopped Marcel Thura, 159, of France, in the sixth round of their ten-round bout at National Hall tonight. The referee stopped the fight.

Saanich Basketball

Three basketball teams from Victoria will journey to the West Road Hall tomorrow evening to play squads representing Saanich.

Brady and Washington Divide Honors as Makers of Holes-in-One

Each Has Shot Seventeen—Emmett French Has Made Twelve and Paddy Doyle Ranks Next

(By BUNKER)
BRADY AND WASHINGTON
A reader asks who is the champion hole-in-one shooter of America. The answer is that there is no such golfer—or rather that there are two of them.

Mike Brady and Tom Washington each has made seventeen aces in the course of long careers. This, at least, is true unless new history has been made since the writer was last in touch with these veterans. So neither has a clear claim to championship honors.

Washington's record is due in part to the fact that he has served a great part of the time as professional on short courses in Northern New Jersey, where the number of one-shot holes was excessive. He developed great skill in shooting to the pin because he had unusual opportunities for practice while in competition.

Twice he made two holes-in-one playing at Hanger Hill for seventeen years without, he said, ever having pulled so rotten a shot. Yet it produced his only ace.

Hal Winkler Only Loaned to Millers
BOSTON, Dec. 5.—The loan of Hal Winkler, Boston Bruins' space goalie to the Minneapolis club, in the American Association Hockey League, was announced today by Manager Art Ross.

Ross said the transfer was made to give Winkler, who was the Bruins' regular cage man, until "Tiny" Thompson arrived here from Minneapolis, an opportunity to mingle in soccer, has decided to send a split vote, seven to two against, thereby minimizing the chances of their proposal being approved.

Two Toronto Ball Players Are Sold for $100,000 to Detroit
TORONTO, Dec. 5.—Dale Alexander and Johnny Prudhomme, two outstanding members of the Toronto Maple Leafs, International Baseball League team, were sold today to the Detroit Tigers of the American League, for $100,000 and players. First baseman Sweeney, with the Tigers last year, will come to Toronto, while two unnamed players are also included in the transaction.

Prudhomme has been a leading pitcher with the Leafs, while Alexander, first-sacker, ranked among the home-run hitters of the circuit.

Bakers Take Lead in Wednesday Soccer by Easy Win Over United

Rennie & Taylor Defeat Saanich Eleven, 5-1—Winners Played With Nine Men—Navy and Hudson's Bay Battle to One-All Score

With two straight victories to their credit, Rennie & Taylor are today in first place in the league standing of the Victoria and District Wednesday Football League. The Bakers defeated Saanich United 5-1 at the Royal Athletic Park, while the Navy and Hudson's Bay eleven battled to a 1-1 score at Beacon Hill.

LEAGUE STANDING
Rennie & Taylor ... 5 W. 0 D. 0
Hudson's Bay ... 1 0 1 3
Navy ... 0 1 1 1
Saanich United ... 0 2 0 0

BATTLE TO DRAW
The match between the Navy and the Hudson's Bay soccer team, which was played on the Beacon Hill Park ground yesterday afternoon, resulted in a 1-1 draw.

The sailors were the better players, but they only went into the field ten men strong. Moreover, a number of their best players were away on duty and the result was that the team did not play with the combination of their opponents, although they showed plenty of individual dash.

The Navy won the toss and played with the sun at their backs during the first half. It was not until shortly before half-time that Robinson and Hibbert made a clever combination run up the field which culminated in a goal for the Blues. As they passed the Hudson's Bay backs Shrimpton ran out of goal and Robinson lobbed the ball between the posts.

The Greenshirts put forward great efforts in the second half, but again it was almost time for the whistle when Fish brought the scores level by scoring off a pass from Mair. Fish was one of the best players on the field and trapped the ball in particularly stylish style on occasion. Hubbert, on the Navy's left wing, showed a turn of speed that nearly resulted in more than one goal for the sailors.

Hewison refereed, and the teams were: Navy—Barker, C. Whyte, Hall, Plummer, Roberts, Dyson, J. Barker, Cardwell, Robinson and Hibbert. Hudson's Bay—Shrimpton, Gardiner, Armstrong, Kerchin, Clarke, Oakman, Addie, Fish, Woolley, Mair and Cull.

The hat trick by Stan Wright, playing the dual role of center-forward and centre half for Rennie & Taylor, a stunning shot by "Dutchy" Davis, which resulted in a goal, and a fifth counter on a penalty kick taken by Bob McIlroy, gave the bakers a 5-1 victory over Saanich United at the Royal Athletic Park yesterday afternoon. The suburbanians netted their lone tally in the second half on a penalty taken by Brown.

Rennie & Taylor started with eight men, and after fifteen minutes of play McIlroy came on the field to make the ninth player for the winners. However, this number proved sufficiently large enough to take the measure of Saanich United. Stan Wright netted the two goals in their best play which allowed the bakers to hold a 3-0 score at the test interval. In the early stages of the second half, he made it 3-0. "Dutchy" Davis worked his way in close for the fourth counter, and then McIlroy put on the finishing touches when a score on a penalty given against Ash for temporarily assuming the role of goalie. The score is by no means a representation of the play. At times Saanich United had their opponents penned in their own half of the field like a bunch of sheep, but could not score. Brown netted their lone counter when one of the Rennie & Taylor players handled the ball in the restricted area.

McKay refereed and the teams were: Rennie & Taylor—Geddes, Newman, Stewart, Rutledge, Tupman, Wright, McIlroy and McIlroy. Saanich United—Tooby, Ash, Hagen, Stenier, Mori, Burnstock, Brown, Barry, Hawkes, Love and Post.

Roy Workers' Deal Approved by Heads

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Final disposition of the case of Roy Workers, holdout Pittsburgh goalie, sold to the New York Americans today, was put in the hands of Frank Calder, president of the National Hockey League, by the board of governors, after voicing approval of the executive's stand in opposition to the deal.

Referee Stops Bout
BOSTON, Dec. 5.—Though an x-ray failed to reveal any signs of a fracture, it was feared today that Capt. Fred Hitchman, of the Boston Bruins hockey team received a broken shoulder in last night's game with the New York Rangers.

Hitchman was injured during the game, five minutes after play had started. The extent of the injury is expected to be known tomorrow.

Sudden Action of Vancouver Officials Will Mean Return of Thompson Cup to Victoria

NO REASON FOR CANCELLATION

The Thompson Cup, emblematic of the High School Rugby championship of British Columbia, is coming back to Victoria, after residing in the showcase of the Mace High School of Vancouver for the past year.

It is coming back this year in a very peculiar manner. The British Columbia championship game, scheduled to take place Saturday on the Mainland between the Mace High, winners of the high school laurels across the water, with the Victoria High, will not be played. The holders of this coveted trophy sent word to Coach Lister, of the local school, that they will not accept the challenge issued them by the local coach a few weeks ago. A telegram to this effect was received yesterday morning. It furthermore stated that basketball and various other lines of sport would be also put on the carpet as far as they were concerned.

For the past two weeks Coach Lister has been sending his boys through strenuous practices for the game that was to be played. The workmen were put to a sudden halt when the wire was sent to the school cancelling the contest. Much interest was being evidenced in both local and Mainland high school circles over the battle, as both teams had made impressive showings throughout the season.

Last Saturday Mace High won the title by defeating the King Edward High School in the final by a 9-0 score.

BASEBALL BOARD AWARDS PLAYER $1,800 CLAIM

TORONTO, Dec. 5.—The national board of arbitration, which is the supreme court of minor baseball, last night awarded I. W. Rohie a claim of $1,800 against the Seattle Club, of the Pacific Coast League.

Rohie was a University of California player who signed with Seattle in November last year, for the 1928 season. The Seattle club changed hands in December and the new owners sought to release the college player. The board held that he was entitled to his salary for the season, although he did not play a game.

There was a rule in baseball that a first-year player who signs a contract for a season can not be released nor sent to another club and reduction in salary.

METCHOSIN FARMERS REVIEW GOOD YEAR

Mr. Whitney - Griffiths Again Chosen as President at Annual Meeting of Institute

METCHOSIN, Dec. 5.—The annual meeting of the Metchosin Farmers' Institute was held in the hall on Monday evening. There was an attendance of nearly fifty, the president, Mr. C. E. Whitney-Griffiths, in the chair. The president read the directors' report. This showed a very successful year, with many lectures and meetings on poultry, bees, bulb growing, insect pests, horticulture, and the Provincial Archives. Several social meetings, including the contest for the filch of bacon, the annual social, at which the South Saanich Institute were guests, and motion pictures by the Department of Agriculture, located at the Metchosin Institute, had been purchased to form a park, almost all of which has now been paid for. Over half the debentures had been paid, and twenty dollars' worth had been given back to the Institute. Thanks were due to the Public Works Department for great improvements to the roads at Luxton. The secretary read the financial

BRANCH OF LEGION MEETS AT LANGFORD

President Reviews Results Achieved in First Year of Body's Existence

The monthly general meeting of the Prince Edward branch, No. 91, Canadian Legion, was held in the clubhouse, Island Highway, Langford, on Monday night. There was a good attendance, Comrade A. G. Mackie, the president, being in the chair. This being the last meeting of this financial year, details were completed for the holding of the election of officers for the forthcoming year, which will take place at the next meeting, on the first Monday in January. The president and one or two other officers took the opportunity of making a brief resume of the results achieved by the branch in their first completed year of existence. These speakers desired the lack of education in the aims and objects of the legion, which exists not only among the public generally, but also among the members themselves, who, by refraining from attending the monthly meetings of the branch are ignorant of the good work that is being performed, judging the activities of the legion merely by the social side. It was pointed out that the dances sponsored by the Prince Edward branch, for which they are now becoming famous, and the other smaller forms of public entertainment, were merely means to an end, for it is only by these means that funds were forthcoming to carry on the real work of the legion. The president reported that during the year six comrades, not all members, have been assisted in obtaining pensions, medical treatment and help, urgently required, from the Canadian Fund. The branch has lately acquired a pool table, which has been very kindly loaned them by the Cress, and thanks are due the secretary of the Pro Patria branch for the gift of cues and balls. The evening social was up with excellent refreshments served as usual by the members of the Women's Auxiliary of the branch, Messrs. Pennington, Gooney, Mackie, Pennington and Stephen.

It appears, according to information furnished to the police, that the aged woman was sitting in front of the fireplace and her clothes caught fire. All possible was done to relieve her sufferings before her removal to the hospital, where, at an early hour this morning, her recovery was despaired of.

FIRE MARSHAL ASKS FOR ALTERATIONS AT DUNCAN HIGH SCHOOL

DUNCAN, Dec. 5.—A short meeting of the Duncan Consolidated School Board was held at the City Hall last night. Trustee R. A. Thorpe in the chair.

An estimate of $600 for the construction of a playing shed, 60 by 40, on the Central School grounds, was laid over for further consideration. It was decided to divide the present library with a partition, to give the principal the private room asked by him. The work will be done during the Christmas holidays.

The Provincial Fire Marshal has asked for alterations in the High School to abolish existing fire hazards. He advises that classroom doors be made to open outward instead of inward, and that an electric fire alarm system should be installed. The matter was left in the hands of the committee on supplies and repairs.

Trustee Stanhope was nominated to serve on the school canteen committee. Four 21 calibre rifles for target practice have been obtained from the Department of Militia and Defence.

LECTURE AT NANAIMO

NANAIMO, Dec. 5.—In the Malaspina Hotel last evening, Mrs. Stevens, of New Westminster, gave an inspiring and instructive lecture to the Women's Canadian Club on "A Tale of Two Cities." Mrs. C. H. Barker, president of the club, presided and introduced the speaker. Mrs. W. F. Drysdale was the evening's soloist, and she furnished a very delightful programme with Mrs. W. F. Anderson as accompanist.

Mother—Jimmy, did you get that loaf of bread I sent you for?
Jimmy—No, mother, the store was closed.

Mother—What, closed at this hour of the day?
Jimmy—Sure. There was a sign on the door that said "Home Baking."

Traveler—Porter, I want to be called at 5 o'clock in the morning.
Porter—Boss, Ah, guess you-all isn't acquainted with these high modern inventions. See, dis head button, heah? Well, when you-all wants to be called, you just presses dat button, an' we comes an' calls you.

Beauty Shop Must Pay Customer for Injury Inflicted

YANCOUVER, Dec. 5.—Judgment for $500 was given by Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald in Supreme Court today in favor of Miss Dorothy Purss, Nanaimo, following trial of her action against Miss Alice Moore, proprietress of the Beauty Craft hair shop, Granville Street, for $5,084.

Her claim was based on alleged injuries while receiving a water-wave April 7 last. Miss Purss maintained that she suffered severe burns during the treatment which destroyed a portion of her hair and left a permanent scar, as a result of which it will cost her $9 per month for hair dressing for the rest of her life.

The matter of hauling logs over city streets was the subject of a letter from Mr. W. P. Beavan, the assistant district engineer, who pointed out that the Government would not give permission for the logging trucks to operate on secondary highways, and could not give permission for their use within the city. The matter was left with alderman Douglas to deal with in cooperation with Mr. Beavan.

Alderman MacDonald, chairman of the electric light committee, reported on the proposed pole line extension for the lower road district of Sandwick. He had attended a meeting in company with the mayor, with the proposed consumers, who had appointed their own committee. At present, however, the proposed new line is no nearer practical realization. Other districts, including the Dove Creek area, and Kitty Coleman area, of Merrville, were very anxious to take advantage of the electric light utility. He also reported that a close check had been made as to the load on the city electric light system, and it was found that it would be necessary to install another 5-kw transformer. This had been done, and the line was now reasonably safe for the Christmas season.

Burgess Bedtime Stories

Buster Bear Is Stung
—By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Buster Bear knew that that pig he had stolen had belonged to one of those two-legged creatures, who, so, having successfully stolen the pig and eaten it, Buster should have taken himself off. But his memory of that delicious feast quite overcame his common sense. So instead of traveling away for good, he had gone a little distance, then turned around and started back. His excuse to himself was that he had had such a good bed under a certain windfall that he wanted to go back there for another nap.

It was two days after Thanksgiving before Buster Bear became real hungry again. During that time he had been so hard to keep away from the piñon on that little farm on the back side of the Great Mountains that he had almost forgotten the pig. There was always the temptation to try for another pig, but until he became really hungry again it was comparatively easy not to yield to that temptation.

It was, however, a very different matter when there was no longer food in his stomach, and when he was conscious every minute of the time that he was hungry. Then he couldn't think of anything but pigs. So the third night, as soon as it was dark, Buster Bear was at the edge of the woods, looking toward that pen where the delectable pigs were. The longer he looked the more he wanted one of them. It was the hardest thing in the world now to rush right over there and grab one.

But Buster did have a little bit of common sense left. He waited and waited, and as he waited he waited and waited his stomach seemed to be whispering to him all the time. It seemed to be whispering "Pig, pig, pig!" and finally Buster looked up at the sky. Not so much as one little star was to be seen. It was a dark night, and it was going to remain dark.

Finally Buster looked up at the sky. Not so much as one little star was to be seen. It was a dark night, and it was going to remain dark. Buster saw the light in the farmhouse go out. He waited just a little longer. Then, more slowly than ever before, he stole toward that piñon back of the barn. At almost every step he would stop to test the little night breeze with his nose and to listen for any suspicious sound. All went well until Buster was almost to the pen. Then a

PILOTS WANTED IN THE STATES

SHORTAGE FELT FOR TRAINED PILOTS, MECHANICS AND ENGINEERS

Majority of Airplane Schools Said to Give Inadequate Training to Men

By DON BROWN (Copyright, 1928, by the North American Newspaper Alliance)

There is a definite shortage in the United States of trained airplane pilots, engineers and mechanics, says a well-known pilot, now head of a metropolitan airport.

"What prospects are there in aviation for a young man with enthusiasm who is willing to go through the necessary training?" I asked him.

"Plenty," he answered emphatically. "Especially for the man who is willing and able to look on his preliminary training as he would any other sort of schooling."

"I need good pilots, mechanics and field and shop executives at my airport. Some of my men are of the best type and well trained, certainly, but too many of them are not. I need better men than I can get. I have to be content for a large part with those of mediocre ability and even inadequate training."

"The sudden, and in some ways, chaotic, expansion which has taken place in the past two years in this country is the real cause of this shortage. With the many millions of dollars which have been drawn into the aviation industry this fall, I foresee a still more acute lack of trained men by next summer."

"A majority of the schools in this country do not give adequate training. This is the real problem for aviation operators. I do not intend these statements as a ray-hued forecast of opportunities. Getting this training is no simple matter and some practical and regular way of obtaining it must be found shortly by those who are interested."

"Air mail operators are employing graduates of the Army and Navy flying schools as fast as they are being turned out. Older and more experienced pilots, who have been flying since the war, usually command extremely high salaries and they are hard to get even when plenty of money is offered."

"I know of one producer of commercial cabin planes who had five of them sold last week, but could not make deliveries because he couldn't get qualified pilots to fly them to the purchasers."

"I suggest that you point out in your article that piloting an airplane is by no means the only worthwhile activity connected with aviation. We need on the ground about five men of ability and training for every one who is flying a plane. The young man who is reasonably free of romantic illusions about aviation will find much of the ground work as interesting as any he could wish."

"The greatest possible caution should be exercised in selecting a school. Many schools give inadequate training, possibly with honest enough intentions. But you can't be a pilot with ten hours of dual instruction, but you can be a mechanic with a few weeks of helping around a shop or taking engines apart and putting them together again."

"Making the grade is a problem which every young man entering aviation has to face. But you can be assured that if you can make it, your training and ability won't be wasted. There are plenty of places and adequate salaries waiting for you."

"When Congress convenes Monday for the short session ending next March, it will find awaiting its action a number of important bills relating to aeronautics, both military and civil, which will demand much of its time."

In addition to appropriations for aeronautical activities, which may reach a total of between $70,000,000 and $80,000,000, Congress will be called upon to cope with problems, the solution of which aviation leaders are convinced only can be obtained through legislation.

While the bulk of the new air legislation pending before the Senate and House deals with the military, there is an outstanding need for a definition of the line of demarcation between Federal and State control of civil aeronautical activities.

There is no bill pending along this line, but the matter is slated for discussion in committees and on the floor, with a view to subsequent legislative action.

Air mail expansion also will require Congressional attention. Owing to the enormous increase of air mail business during the past few months, there will have to be a corresponding increase in the funds made available for the payment of air mail contracts.

The Postoffice Department also is expected to ask Congress this Winter for authority to establish additional air mail lines to neighboring countries to augment the present services to Canada, Cuba and Mexico.

Like being the son of a famous father, bearing too great a resemblance to a great man sometimes has its drawbacks. At an Eastern airport where flying training is given, there is a student who is almost a double of Lindbergh.

He is known around the flying field as "Slim" and "Lindbergh."

The writer watched a small airplane landing at that port the other day. It wobbled noticeably on the way down, almost went into a side-slip and finally hit the ground without flattening out enough. It wobbled bouncing across the field and then did a ground loop.

A veteran pilot groaned.

"Get ten new grey hairs every time he lands," he said.

"Who is it?"

"Oh, that's Lindbergh!"

JOHN D. JUNIOR IS COSTLY BROTHER

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 5.—There was spirited bidding the other day in London for possession of a rare rug, up for auction, Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick finally was the successful bidder at a price reported to have been $120,000.

The price might not have been so high, but someone was making a determined bid against Mrs. McCormick's offer. She learned after it was all over that she had been bidding against her brother, John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

The rug, upon which have trod Sillas, Caesars and Emperors, was the work of expert rugmakers centuries ago as a gift to their ruler, the Shah of Persia. Long years afterward the rug was a gift to Peter the Great of Russia. Later it was given to the Emperor of Austria.

During the turbulent years of the world war the rug disappeared, bobbing up again at the London auction.

They were a middle-aged couple in the tube train, and the wrangle went on until the man noticed that one of their fellow-passengers were becoming interested in the altercation. "Well, dry up now," he said in a weary voice. "Why quarrel over a public place?"

"What have we got a home for?"

The policeman who won the man's bet was competing to having his portrait painted. It should take its place along with the other Constables and Sargentas. — London Opinion.

TANKER'S CREW SAVED AT SEA

MEN ABOARD BRITISH COURAGE FORCED TO QUIT FLAMING SHIP

German Steamer Uarda Effects Rescue in Eastern Mediterranean Sea

LONDON, Dec. 5.—The German steamer Uarda today reported rescuing the crew of the British tanker, British Courage, which was on fire in the Eastern Mediterranean.

Lloyd's dispatches from Alexandria, telling of the rescue, said the British seamen were picked up from lifeboats. Previously the British Courage had sent out a wireless message stating that she was afloat and that the ship would be abandoned shortly.

The British Courage, a tanker, is owned by the British Tankers Company, Limited, of London. She was built this year at Glasgow, is 6,487 tons gross register, 440 feet long and is equipped with tanks for carrying petroleum in bulk.

The air express Christmas rush will commence with the opening of the daily service on December 10, and will increase steadily until Christmas Eve, it is expected. One feature of this service, of interest to both Eastern and Western Canada, is the fact that gifts can be shipped west by train and then rushed to their destinations in the West by air, thus saving a great deal of time and assuring their delivery before Christmas morning. The daily service will continue until December 29.
